Truce Death Sequel

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mayor Ralph Locher said Wednesday night all sides in the city's civil rights school dispute have agreed to a two-week truce.

The mayor's announcement came after a city hall meeting that lasted almost seven hours. Some 150 civil rights demonstrators, waiting in the lobby while their leaders met with officials of the city and school board, left without any trouble after they were told the outcome of that conference.

TWO WEEKS

Locher said the agreement includes establishment of a 10-man committee to study the racial problem in Cleveland. The truce will end demonstrations and picketing at school construction sites, city hall or the board of education headquarters for two weeks and may be continued two more weeks if progress is being made.

LONG DAY

The agreement climaxed a long day for civil rights demonstrators. At noon they marched for an hour in rain and snow. The number of participants—about one-third of them white persons—swelled from 150 to 400 for a march to city hall—two blocks away.

NEW SCHOOL

Shortly before the peaceful parade began at noon, a judge issued a temporary order banning further construction, picketing or trespassing at the site of the new Lakeview public elementary school.

It was there that Rev. Bruce W. Khunder, 27, a white Presbyterian minister, died Tuesday when he was run over by a bulldozer. The coroner Wednesday ruled the death accidental.

Toy-Gun Bandit Let Off

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice J. G. Rutan let off first offender Lorne Gordon with a two-year suspended sentence on the first charge here of illegal possession of an imitation revolver, a charge designed to combat an increased number of holdups in which bandits use toy guns.

Defence counsel said Gordon was under the influence of alcohol when he apparently intended to hold up a flower shop. He chased the staff into the street then dropped his "gun" and fled when they wouldn't return.

Love Vs. Loyalty

Irene Near Breakdown

PARIS (UPI)—Princess Irene of The Netherlands, torn between love for her Spanish prince and loyalty to her family, was reported Wednesday on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

This statement was made at a brief news conference shortly after Irene arrived to join her fiancé, Don Carlos Hugo de Borbon y Parma on the occasion of his 34th birthday.

It was made by a close friend of the family, the Marquis de Loues, 73, as the princess sat by quietly, looking tired.

The marquis read a statement by Irene which said her decision to go her own way with her prince has not changed her relations with her parents.

Later, he added: "She is on the verge of a nervous breakdown."

The statement explained her decision not to join Queen Juliana, Prince Bernhard and Crown Princess Beatrix on an official visit to Mexico.

CONSEQUENCES

"Princess Irene has decided to choose to follow the life of her future husband with all its consequences," it said, "and thus she will not make an official visit to Mexico in order to separate completely the private responsibility of her acts from the policies of her family and to avoid creating political difficulties for the Queen or the government of her country."

PRESSURES

The marquis said Irene's decision "was caused by a series of pressures, due on the one hand to her entry into the Catholic church, and on the other to her firm resolution to help her future husband in his duties and obligations."

He refused to answer questions on the date or place of the wedding.

Unification Goal

ONE UNIFORM BY '67

OTTAWA (CP)—The defence department is aiming to have the three armed forces in one uniform by July 1, 1967—the Confederation centenary.

A department spokesman said Wednesday this date is "acceptable as a target" for unification of the three forces, as opposed to integration which already is under way.

Planning now calls for issue of a new Canadian defence force uniform starting next year.

No decision has yet been made on color or design, the spokesman said. The main concern now is for the choice of a good, neat, serviceable cloth.

Meanwhile, a planning committee has begun work under Air Chief Marshal Frank Miller, designated as the new chief of defence staff. It is laying out establishment of a single defence staff for Ottawa headquarters.

Viet Camp Wiped Out

SAIGON (AP) — A Viet Cong force wiped out a Vietnamese army training camp 15 miles south of Saigon Wednesday.

A Vietnamese military spokesman reported 25 South Vietnamese were killed in the guerrilla attack. The Viet Cong apparently captured virtually every weapon in the camp at Phuoc Loi.

Bunche jokes with UN Cyprus chief

NICOSIA (Reuters) — Ralph Gen. Prem Gyand, the Indian UN force commander, and "review his problems on the spot." (See also Page 2.)

"The secretary-general (U Thant) will expect me to report on the first 12 days of the UN operation here," Bunche added. Bunche had not been expected here until Friday. Cyprus riot President Archbishop Makarios postponed a trip to Athens to meet him Wednesday. Bunche said he would stay until Sunday, then return to the Gaza Strip.

Questioned about Thant's request for more troops for the UN force, Bunche said it was "a matter of simple arithmetic." The UN had found itself short of the figure it had set. (At UN headquarters in New York, Thant said he had asked Finland, Sweden and Ireland for 300 more troops each to make a total strength of 7,550-men for the peace force on Cyprus.)

In Dublin, the Irish government said it is considering a request from Thant for more Irish troops. Some 600 Irish troops have been designated for the Cyprus operation and 200 more are being considered, a source said.

Bunche said he came to Cyprus earlier than planned because Makarios was going to Athens and he wanted to be at his disposal.

Brussels Claims

Doctors' Strike Faltering

BRUSSELS (AP-Reuters) — The Belgian government claimed Wednesday night a strike of 12,000 doctors and dentists against a revised socialized medical law shows signs of faltering.

A spokesman for the medical men promptly denied the government claim but independent checks revealed some cracks in the doctors' firm stand since the strike began eight days ago. Meanwhile there were indications King Baudouin was seeking resumption of talks between the government and the medical men.

Reliable sources indicated the young monarch was trying to have Professor Jan - Jacques Bouckaert, rector of Ghent University and former dean of its medical faculty, act as mediator. The king and Bouckaert conferred in the royal palace but there was no immediate announcement about their conversations.

An interior ministry spokesman said in an interview that physicians in rural districts were drifting back to work. He added:

HOPE (CP) — Two young Canadian sailors, both 19, died Wednesday when their car crashed into America Bridge on the Trans-Canada Highway, five miles north of here.

RCMP said one of the youths died instantly and the second in hospital.

OTTAWA (CP) — Labor Minister MacEachen said in the Commons Wednesday he will consider an extension of the municipal winter works incentive program in depressed areas after the normal expiry of April 30.

100 Stop, Seven Help 'Beggar' Rewards Good

TORONTO (UPI)—Seven good Samaritans found themselves richer because each gave 25 cents to an unkempt, unshaven "beggar" at a busy downtown intersection.

The "beggar" was Toronto millionaire Mel Lastman who undertook the masquerade to test the generosity of citizens toward an unemployed man looking for work.

He found 19 of the first 20 people passed him by when he sought a quarter to get a shave and shoeshine so he could look presentable for a job interview.

Robert Pollard, a shipper who was unemployed himself for six months until early this year, refused to accept a $100 dollar bill for his generosity to the millionaire.

"You need the money more than I do," he told Lastman, who has built a chain of 23 appliance stores throughout Ontario.

Pollard finally accepted the money when reporters and photographers convinced him Lastman could afford it.

Six other men, out of the more than 100 people stopped on the street, also sympathized with Lastman's plight and were repaid for their generosity.

Lastman said he was surprised to discover men more generous than women. He said none of the ladies would listen to his tale of woe.

The experiment was finally halted after an hour when a police cruiser stopped and took Lastman away for interrogation. He was released when police were convinced he was not really a beggar.

Africans Deplore Bombing

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Two African members submitted a compromise resolution Wednesday calling on the UN Security Council to deplore a British air attack on a Yemeni border fortress which Yemen said claimed 25 lives.

Morocco and the Ivory Coast submitted a mild resolution when it became apparent out-right condemnation could not win council approval. A vote was put off until today.

Farris Perjury Trial Hears 'Convincer'

$5,255 Stock Became $165,000

TORONTO (CP) — The jury trying Vancouver financier Ralph K. Farris for perjury heard Wednesday how a $700-a-month employee parlayed $5,255 into $165,000 with stock purchases in Farris' Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company.

J. Chester Grey, Jr., of Tucson, Ariz., who said his job was to sell Northern Ontario municipalities on NONG's then-projected pipeline in 1954-55, told the Supreme Court jury he eventually resigned in 1956 when he could not get any more stock.

He had started off with five shares of NONG's initial issue, which quickly was split 100 for one and then split again at five for one. Along with stock-purchase rights he wound up with 9,144 shares for his investment. The stock now sells at $21.

Mr. Grey, a former Seattle man who now lives in Arizona for his health, testified at the opening day of evidence at the trial of the 53-year-old Farris, president of NONG, whose company has been under investigation off and on by the Ontario and British Columbia authorities since 1958.

Farris is accused on two counts of perjury himself before Ontario inquiries in denying knowledge of the disposition of a block of 14,000 NONG shares, some of which went to officials or former officials of municipalities which awarded gas franchises to the company in Northern Ontario.

Largest slice of this block—7,500 shares—went to Mr. Justice Leo Landreville of the

Richard Is Hospital Matron Michael Is Night Sister

MAIDSTONE, England (AP)—Richard Hulbert has been appointed assistant matron at Maidstone's Oakwood Hospital. And Michael Curllins is Oakwood's new night sister, as British hospitals call their head ward nurses.

"I'm not really upset about being called matron," said Hulbert, "but I suppose I could be called something more suitable."

"People find it a bit hard to explain that a man is a sister," said Arthur Akers, general secretary of the Health Service Union. "But it really isn't easy to think of anything new."

Akers said most British hospitals give their nurses badges showing their rank. "We've now reached the stage," he said, "where they need badges to say whether they're men or women."

Especially in Oakwood. It's a women's hospital.

Malaysia Denounces Cease-Fire

KUALA LUMPUR (AP)—Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia said Wednesday he considers the cease-fire with Indonesia at an end, the government television station reported.

Rahman said British and Malaysian troops in Malaysia's Borneo territories would strike across the border into Indonesian Borneo in case of any large-scale conflict.

The cease-fire, which took effect Jan. 26 but was never fully implemented, was negotiated by U.S. Attorney-General Robert F. Kennedy.

Rahman denounced the cease-fire after reports of four border clashes in the last week.

Wisconsin Primary

Wallace's Support Shakes Up North

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Ala. Governor George C. Wallace, who said he would "shake the eye teeth" of both parties' leaders if he attracted more than 25,000 Wisconsin votes in his campaign against the civil rights bill, won 10 times that many in Tuesday's presidential primary.

But Wisconsin Governor John W. Reynolds, who headed a "favorite son" delegation as the personal choice of President Johnson, won all of the state's 46 Democratic national convention votes.

CLAIM CHALLENGED
The southern segregationist's assertion that winning nearly 25 per cent of the total vote cast constituted a referendum that "will send a good message both to the Congress and to the two national parties" was challenged by the other principals.

"It just goes to show what we've known all along," Reynolds said. "There are prejudiced people in the north as well as in the south."

FAVORITE SON
Representative John W. Byrnes, the Republican "favorite son" whose candidacy kept the Republican primary free of serious contenders for the presidential nomination, said "I don't think this election proves anything at all about the civil rights bill."

With 3,349 of the state's 3,532 voting districts reporting, the vote was: Reynolds, 683,066; Wallace, 246,275; Byrnes 287,632.

BE ON GUARD
Canada must be on guard to day or its social security structure will be fragmented, said Dr. Mutchmor. A Canadian has the right to move from province to province. His pension under the proposed new plan should be a Canadian, not a provincial one.

He also said the United Church should support the bilingualism commission headed by Dr. Eugene Forsey. "This is no time when our national destiny should be determined by hotheads."

Settle It Fast —Wirtz

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz told railway and union negotiators Wednesday night "the public interest demands" that they settle their work rules dispute immediately and avert a threatened U.S.-wide strike.

At an emergency meeting ordered by President Johnson, Wirtz told representatives of five train operating unions and representatives of nearly 200 railways:

"I am going to continue the present session until this result is reached."

BIGGER THREAT

The emergency meeting was called after a strike against the Illinois Central Railroad turned into a threat that more than 200,000 rail workers would walk off their jobs across the U.S. at 12:01 a.m. Friday.

The new rail crisis, part of the long and involved five-year-old railway work rules dispute, is primarily over money issues.

Wirtz told the labor and management representatives:

"The ability or the failure to reach agreement will determine whether there is or is not to be a major disruption in the nation's present encouraging economic advance. It will also affect materially the future of free collective bargaining in this country."

France Backs Peking in UN

TOKYO (UPI)—France will support Communist China for membership in the United Nations, but it will not pressure its former African colonies to back Peking, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville said Wednesday.

According to Japanese government sources, Couve de Murville also told Japanese Foreign Minister Masuyoshi Ohira that France will back Red China for a seat in the UN Security Council as well.

Admits Breakdown

Khrushchev Pounces On Supply Culprit

BUDAPEST (UPI)—Premier Khrushchev admitted Wednesday that there have been breakdowns in Soviet industrial deliveries to eastern European allies and publicly took a red-faced Communist Party leader in the audience.

The touring Khrushchev made the admission in an off-the-cuff speech before optical factory workers here. He then plunged into final strategy talks with Hungarian Premier János Kádár on the Soviet Union's bitter controversy with Communist China.

(Communist Albania, China's only ally in Europe, charged Wednesday that Khrushchev had betrayed international Communism. The Albanian Communist Party publication Zeri i Popullit said Khrushchev was "merging his party with social democrats.")

NOT ENOUGH MOTORS
Khrushchev told the workers that the Communist Party secretary of the optical plant had told him that "a certain foreign country hadn't given us enough motors."

"I asked him if it was the Soviet Union, and he said yes," Khrushchev continued. "So I started clearing things up to find out why they didn't deliver."

CHIEF CULPRIT

"I knew it must be either from the Ukraine, from Leningrad or from Moscow. If it's from the Ukraine, then the chief culprit is among us."

Khrushchev gestured toward Ukrainian Communist Party first secretary, Pyotr Shelest, who accompanied the Soviet premier on his visit to Hungary.

"Here's Comrade Shelest," Khrushchev said. "He's here eating goulash, but not delivering motors."

COMRADE UNEASY
Shelest shifted his weight uneasily.

Continuing in the same vein, Khrushchev said he had heard complaints from Yugoslav shipyards about late deliveries of steel plates from the Soviet Union.

Join Hands Against Reds U.S. Tells West Europe

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk said Tuesday night Western Europe, menaced by "many more missiles than are aimed at the United States," should close ranks in support of collective action against Communist threats and aggression. In a speech on NATO policy, Rusk indicated the Johnson administration will work with those allies willing to co-operate on specific problems and bypass those who refuse to do so.

He did not mention France in this respect but the U.S. and France are split over several issues, including Southeast Asia and Cuban trade. On trade with Cuba, and the Communist bloc generally, the U.S. and Britain also disagree.

The Senate Gambit

MR. Stanley Knowles' bill to abolish the Senate ended up as most private members' bills do, especially when coming from the opposition. It was talked out.

There was no chance that anything else would eventuate. Mr. Diefenbaker was ill advised to oppose discussion of the bill at the outset of its introduction, but Mr. Pearson's blessing at this stage didn't mean he favored the move. He has some three-score supporters in the Red Chamber to whom he is beholden.

It was a Liberal Commons group in any case that blocked extensive discussion of the Knowles bill and caused it to die on the order paper.

His proposal seems to have been a bit of a political gimmick on the part of the NDP member. It is said he has been carrying his bill around in his pocket, waiting only for an expedient moment to present it. This came when Senator O'Leary asserted the Upper Chamber's rights by holding up for one day the monetary unemployment insurance measure and putting the government in a flutter.

The senator did this on principle, irked by the apparent disdain by the government of the Senate. Had the Commons not made a hash of its own procedures the Red Chamber wouldn't have been faced with acting like an automatic poor relation.

In spite of Mr. Knowles the Senate does have rights. It is one of the two Houses of Parliament authorized by the constitution. Nor is it easily to be abolished as Mr. Knowles seems to think. And if the Commons can introduce a bill to abolish the Senate it is pointed out that it would be constitutionally possible for the Senate to introduce a bill to abolish the Commons.

And each house would have to approve its own demise!

The weakness of the Senate, adding to its somewhat ambiguous status in the light of today, is that it is partisan appointed and not elected, and thus does not have the authoritative voice it might have under a different complexion. The bicameral system has its value if it is properly observed.

Most people would agree there is need for some reform of the Senate, and if it were differently constituted as the legislative check of unwise Commons action—which invariably means government action, not always the same thing—the Senate could perform to the advantage of the nation.

But this requires weighty and responsible approach, not a gambit for political party advantage.

Annual Clean-Up

THE people of Esquimalt are treating themselves this week to a small luxury: the municipality is carting away, free, their old water tanks, bedsprings and the like—the things that are normally so awkward to get rid of.

One wonders if the residents of the other Greater Victoria municipalities would not also show themselves prepared to pay, collectively within their own borders, for an annual community cleanup of this nature, were they given their say.

Saanich when it mailed its last round of water bills enclosed an enquiry to determine the attitude of its householders to weekly collection of garbage at additional cost, rather than service every two weeks. This seems a good way of checking public opinion on matters of relatively small consequence, when the stakes are not high enough to demand a formal vote by the electorate.

It would certainly lend itself well to the purpose of finding out, if given estimates of the expense, the people of Saanich, Oak Bay and Victoria were interested in having an opportunity each spring to say goodbye to accumulated junk of the kind that defies burning, burying or easy private disposal.

Mobile Testing

ACCORDING to provincial officials a start is likely to be made this summer on a B.C.-wide program of car-testing to check on mechanical safety, initially with one mobile unit going from place to place.

This would be a modest beginning, but nevertheless a welcome one, for at the very least it would have the effect of making drivers more sensitive of deficiencies in their vehicles.

To what extent accidents are caused by mechanical faults or lack of a matter of some dispute. There are those who assert that only in a minute percentage of road mishaps are these a determining factor. It seems reasonable to assume that most drivers who know they have poor brakes or untrustworthy tires or steering defects or the like compensate for these risks, normally, with an extra measure of caution.

But one can hardly question that when recklessness enters the picture—carelessness through impairment, youthful exuberance, plain stupid selfishness, even the real need to get somewhere in a hurry—mechanical inadequacy greatly increases the chance of accident. The rising speed of highway traffic too boosts the hazard.

There can be little doubt therefore that a provincial vehicle testing program is worthwhile—especially when it is noted that one of every three cars stopped in road checks by the Victoria city police last year was found to be defective, from a safety point of view, in some degree.

Like the B.C. Automobile Association, many other motorists will hope that the mobile testing unit will not only go into operation this summer but in due course will be followed by permanent installations in all centres of population.

Hansard Titbits

Over and Over

MR. Monteith: Let me repeat. In all those years of surpluses they did not care two hoots for the welfare of the common man or the aged, who were forced to get along on $40 a month.

An hon. Member: What has this got to do with contributory pensions?

MR. Monteith: As I said before, in 1937 they held out as election bait an increase of $6 per month in old age security, effective July 1 or after the date of the election. It was a straight bribe to the old people.

MR. Winkler: A real Grit trick.

MR. Monteith: But I should like to point out that in the almost six years we were in office we actually legislated for an increase of $19 per month, and it was only as a result of our insistence that the $10 increase of last October 1 was forthcoming.

An hon. Member: This is the thirtieth time you have said that tonight.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and ships,

By TOM TAYLOR

I HAVE applied for my nine digits, that is for my social security number. At least the card is before me as I write and I am billing it in.

I tored for a moment with the thesis that "the king is dead, long live the king." Monarchy never dies, you see, but is passed without a break.

So it is with a surname. I had one the moment I was born, apparently. No human being begins life unadorned. A nameplate comes with the stork.

And I have to declare that I have kept mine intact, or reveal the change.

This I suppose ensures I shall get the correct number.

As to the numbering it does not displease me. Some teachers are afraid of being numbered but not I. In the course of my life I have borne a whole flock of numbers, one way and another, and an extra one won't do me any harm.

I hope. Even games players are numbered nowadays, although watching a hockey broadcast I wonder why. The commentator never cites these but tells you who has the puck. Just as well, too, for the number-bearers flash by so quickly you can't read their numbers anyway.

Some day, alas, I suppose individuals will be given but one number, and it will suffice for all the mundane purposes of life. One is enough for a computer, and computers threaten to dominate the human scene.

I am not bilingual, alas, but the SI card is. I have the choice of making my entries in either the English or the French language.

This raises no objection in me, either, which makes me wonder at Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia.

He says English-speaking Canadians should accept and welcome the French language and culture in Canada as a continuing act.

My SI card makes amply clear that the act is continuing. I hadn't noticed particularly however that the Canadian didn't welcome the Canadian or was anxious to curb the latter's language or culture. From what I gathered of recent months it is very much the other way round.

The Canadian doesn't seem over anxious to welcome the Canadian.

Perhaps Mr. Stanfield should spread his advice in Quebec, in reverse. It is beginning to seem that it is the Canadian who needs the protection.

After an illustrious career, General MacArthur has died full of honor and eighty-four bountiful years. And induced the thought that age and accomplishment, after all, are relative.

MacArthur was 61 when, following Pearl Harbor, he took over the field direction of the Pacific War. Churchill was 61 when he took the British helm in the same global conflict. MacArthur was 79 when he became the UN commander in Korea. Churchill was 74 when he became prime minister for the second time.

Age had not withered them nor the years condemned.

By her looks and the nightclub audiences that greet her still, neither has Marlene Dietrich suffered at the hands of fate.

She is the epitome of the sprightly grandmother in pulchritude and style.

And she also, it has been intangibly revealed, is of vintage heritage. She is 52. Although here again what do the years matter when set against performance.

Excepting only that it is all right for generals and politicians to have their ages follow them openly throughout their years, the code is more delicate in respect to womanly reticence.

It was unfair of a West German official to betray the date on Marlene's birth certificate. Charming grandmothers should be judged by their person, not the summers and winters they have borne unpaired, seemingly.

Presidential Aspirants

The Advantage of Being Rich

By GODFREY HOBKINSON
from Washington

NOT the least of John F. Kennedy's feats in the 1960 election was to have broken the old, unwritten, rule which said that a Roman Catholic could never become president of the United States. Now, almost unopposed, another criterion seems to have crept into the canon of availability for the White House: money.

Ingenuously and no doubt knowledgeably interpreting the size of the insurance policy his family has taken out to cover expected death duties, the Wall Street Journal has just calculated that the present tenant's personal fortune is worth a million dollars.

This is a highly academic point, since nobody has ever doubted that the Lyndon Johnson family is worth a good deal more than that. The family television business, which has a monopoly of the market in Austin, Texas, and the surrounding area, is said to be worth $7 million, and its income is more than $500,000 a year. In addition, the Johnson own thousands of acres of valuable real estate in Texas, in Washington, and in Alabama.

There is, in fact, little likelihood of any non-millionaire living in the White House in the 1960s. Almost all the leading contenders for the Republican nomination for president, and for the Democratic nomination for vice-president, are extremely wealthy men.

Nelson Rockefeller is one of five brothers who are heirs to perhaps the greatest family fortune in history, the one started by their grandfather, the founder of Standard Oil. They now enjoy the vast revenue from at least a billion dollars invested in almost every industry and in Europe, Africa and South America as well as in North America.

Barry Goldwater and his brother own a chain of department stores in Arizona, founded by their grandfather, which grossed $4.5 million some years ago. Since then the population of Arizona, and presumably the fortunes of established local businessmen and landowners like the Goldwaters, can be presumed to have gone up by leaps and bounds.

William Scranton of Scranton, Pennsylvania—perhaps in the long run the most likely choice for the Republicans—is the heir of almost feudal economic power. The town was founded by and belonged to the family. The family owned, and still controls, the steel works, the water works, the bank, the newspaper, even the railway linking these properties with their market. Scranton himself says he is worth $8 million; no one can believe he is not just being modest.

Henry Cabot Lodge comes of a family that has been running Boston since long before the Tea Party, and for every Cabot that was running things in the State House, there have been quieter ones looking after the family fortunes on State Street.

Only Richard Nixon is a poor boy—not by ordinary standards, since he is a partner in a law firm in New York, where $100,000 a year is regarded as a distinctly modest income for a senior partner, and he is reported to have paid down $200,000 for a flat—but still poor by the standards of leading Republicans.

Things are not so different among the Democrats. Of those seriously in the running for the vice-presidency, probably only Hubert Humphrey is not a millionaire. And he learned what a disadvantage that is in American politics in West Virginia in 1960, where he was swamped in the primary by Kennedy money.

Two of the leading contenders, of course, have that gigantic fortune, estimated at $300 million to $500 million, behind them. They are Robert Kennedy and his brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver. Adlai Stevenson, though hardly in that league, is believed to be a millionaire; he was married to the heiress of the Borden dairy family. And Robert McNamara told a Senate committee

Radio 'Hams'

THE Alaska 'quake has pointed up the importance of speedy communication, covered in time of need by amateur radio operators (hams) as recently reported in the local press.

In this day and age when so many have their minds set on "what is there in it for me," it is refreshing to find a devoted group with international coverage who do things for those in serious distress "all for free." Some 30 years ago the citizens of Wellington were saved by the New Zealand 'quake by one lone amateur alive to do the job when all other communications were cut. There are many such cases where these hams render this valuable civil defence service by paying for a licence from the government for the privilege of doing it.

It may not be generally known that a devoted few amateurs doing research in Britain in the 20s, pioneered short-wave communications (after Rugby long-wave station was set up) thus saving millions for world-wide network. Wherever disaster strikes, this devoted group stands ready. Permit me to sign myself "Good 2 Old Harry." G.2.O.H. (Great Britain).

Against Centre

On April 25 Oak Bay ratepayers are to vote in regard to an expenditure of one million dollars for a proposed recreation centre at the corner of Foul Bay Road and Fort Street.

A great many of your readers will remember the very costly and generally extraordinary experience suffered by the Victoria taxpayers when they became involved with construction and management of the Memorial Arena. Everything about it was adversely criticized and for years the maintenance costs were greater than anticipated last year that he was worth $1½ million.

It is perhaps worth adding that this is no new phenomenon. One can think of a dozen candidates or near-candidates who are, or were, very rich men—Averell Harriman, "Soapy" Williams, Stuart Symington—for every poor one; though Eisenhower, a millionaire now, was not one when he ran and was elected. Nor is it confined to the national scene: Congress is full of the small-town rich.

This is not irrelevant. For one thing, the advantage that the rich have in American politics is the result of the prodigious costs of electioneering. Skilled help, continental travel and, above all, time on television must be paid for. It costs as much to plug a candidate as to sell soap.

The parties and other backers are supposed to disclose just how much is spent in an election year. In 1962, according to accounts filed under the Corrupt Practices Act, they spent $23 million; in 1956, $28.2 million; and in 1960 $32.9 million. But everyone knows these were ludicrous under-estimates. For one thing, only those contributing in more than one state are obliged to disclose themselves. For another, primaries are not covered.

Hard to Reach

Alice Kimoff's picture of Gordon's Beach, on the front page of The Islander, gave me information on the location. This is one of the finest beaches on the West Coast of North America. Its main drawback is its nearness to Sooke which means no transportation.

Buses used to run from Victoria to Jordan River; then the service was cut to Sooke with taxi service to adjacent points. Now there is no taxi service out of Sooke.

Imagine a town of 5,000 people with supermarkets, a golf course and a fire hall and no taxi and nowhere for a stranded traveller to lay his head except on the cement steps of the firehall.

If the people of Victoria want to go to Rume, the Congo or Australia they can pull a pink telephone off the hook and arrange it and pay next year. If they want to get to Gordon's Beach 35 miles west they can get to Sooke by bus and then walk seven miles.

Subtle Change

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

PRIME MINISTER PEARSON, friends and associates have said, never really wanted to be PM. Then, being become prime minister, very obviously at first, he didn't at all enjoy the experience.

Now, those in these political parts engaged in the serious business of "prime minister-watching," say they detect a subtle change in Lester Bowles Pearson, the man so many Canadians know as Mike.

He still doesn't regard the job as very much fun, but has learned to roll with the punches and with a very sense of humor, a priceless asset for any prime minister, can enjoy a laugh on himself.

This is a terrific technique in arming up a crowd, this amiability of being able to take himself less than seriously.

His talent for disarming the crowd, for putting people at their comfortable ease, and perhaps lining them up on his side of the political fence, came shining through the other night when he responded to a particularly fulsome introduction at one of his increasingly frequent public appearances.

He had been presented as... "the one-time junior civil servant for whom, then, the wild-eyed Gypsy would never have prophesied such a future... now the only professor of history making history today... a man who has been honored for more achievements, more great services both nationally and internationally than any other Canadian in history... the loneliest man in Canada, carrying a greater burden than any prime minister, certainly any other Canadian prime minister ever carried before... a man who uses power with moderation, with gusto and with a merry heart and infectious grin..."

There was more, much, much more.

What does a man, even a prime minister, say and do when he rises to speak after such an introduction?

Like the man said, he grins, infectiously, and with the audience, laughs at himself.

So people had been surprised by the way the former junior civil servant had turned out, mused the prime minister with a wry shrug.

So had he... even more surprised than... even.

How had it all come about? "Well," grinned the PM, "the other day I came across a man I hadn't seen in years. He had been my army sergeant back in 1916. And he said, 'I knew you were going to make something of yourself from the way you used to pick up scraps of paper around the parade square at Shorncliffe Military Camp and put the litter in that bag.'"

So with his old sergeant, the prime minister cut up some old army touches of the days when he did two weeks' punishment fatigue as garbage collector for failing to salute an officer.

Leave it to an old public relations gimmick merchant to come up with as deft a definition of public service in the Senate as you're likely to hear.

It came from Senator Allister Groat, who went to his political reward of a life-time pension of $15,000 a year, courtesy of the taxpayer, last year, for his services in stage-managing three Conservative campaign marches to the federal victory.

How did the old warhorse find the quiet life in the silence of the Senate?

"It's got working beat by a Bay Street mile."

Hazen Argue, long-time Saskatchewan CCF-turned-Liberal MP, put to political pasture by the voters last time out, was in the capital the other day, sniffing what he hoped might be election breezes.

And how were things out West?

Never, ever been better, he beamed. Why, since the better-than-half-billion-dollar grain sales to Soviet Russia, Red China and their Iron Curtain satellites, farmers across the Prairies weren't bothering to look at their Wheat Board cheques any more.

"They just hale 'em up and weigh 'em."

In the souvenir shops of the capital they used to sell acid little wall and deck signs reading: "Some MPs should be thankful they're not getting paid what they're worth."

Now, since the new $18,000-plus parliamentary salary, these snappily made signs read: "Some MPs should be more thankful THAN EVER that they're not getting paid what they're worth."

Cyprus Up to Expectations

By CARMAN CUMMING

With depressing predictability, the United Nations Cyprus force is encountering the traps and pitfalls that were forecast for it.

So far the force has reacted according to plan — with patience, restraint and more patience.

The fact that the force is encountering trouble is not necessarily the fault of the UN or of the countries providing troops.

By and large these countries and the UN knew what they were up against. It was clear that the conditions under which the UN troops would work would not be ideal. That was the price of admission.

From the start it was obvious that the venture would be as risky as it was necessary. The force was formed with few illusions, so there are few to be shattered.

It was predictable, for example, that Archbishop Makarios would try to use the force to gain his own ends: The destruction of the Turkish-Cypriot's capacity to fight back and of Turkey's rights to intervene.

The archbishop — president, leader of the Greek-Cypriot, has performed as expected by pronouncing the end of the treaty giving Turkey intervention rights. And reports from Cyprus speak of a campaign by the archbishop's followers to launch a "counter-attack" against the Turkish community.

It was predictable that one side or the other would accuse the UN force of failing to carry out its mandate. The Turkish-Cypriots have been the first to complain, charging that the force has done nothing to prevent attacks on members of their community.

It was predictable, given the terms of reference of the force, that Makarios' "regular irregulars" would challenge UN soldiers and the latter would either have to fight or back down.

Such an incident happened Sunday when a detachment of British UN troops were held hostage for a time. It provoked demands in the British press and parliament for clarification of the UN powers, with the influential London Times demanding that British troops should be withdrawn from the force unless they "can be assured of a useful and dignified role in keeping the island's peace."

From the UN point of view, such assurance is impossible. It is the nature of UN peace-keeping activity that success is usually built on compromise rather than toughness.

Barring a near-miraculous improvement on the island, the Britons, Canadians and Swedes so far making up the force can expect more rather than fewer demands on their self-discipline.

Bluster Born of Jealousy

Malaysian Success Frustrates Sukarno

By LAWRENCE MOSHER, from Kuching, Sarawak
Why does Indonesia's President Sukarno vow repeatedly to "crush Malaysia"?

To understand this odd little war, an outsider must never forget that Malaysians, Indonesians and Filipinos are all of the Malay race. In many instances the Malaysians and Indonesians are blood brothers.

As one government official explains it, "There is a love-hate relationship between us and the Indonesians similar to that between Americans and the English."

And, as there have been wars between Americans and Englishmen, so can there be wars between Malaysians and Indonesians. But the motivations may lie outside the usual norms.

Compelling argument is made, for example, that Sukarno is furiously jealous of little Malaysia. His "guided democracy" is floundering on the hard facts of economic life. A developing nation cannot be nourished on words alone.

Meanwhile, Malaysia continues to forge ahead with the healthiest economy and highest living standard in Southeast Asia.

In addition to jealousy there is also pride. Sukarno gives evidence of looking on Malaysia as little brother. Yet, little brother had the impertinence

And What's de Gaulle Up To?

Khrushchev Woos France

By ALAIN de LYBOT, from Paris

Globe-trotting Aleksei I. Adzhubei, son-in-law to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, is in France trying to bring about a Paris-Moscow entente or at least trying to give the impression that he has something of that nature up his sleeve.

Adzhubei, who is also editor of Izvestia, has tried to get an audience with President de Gaulle but, according to well-informed sources, has failed. These sources add that de Gaulle is simply not interested in seeing him.

Nevertheless, no one believes that he is in France to talk about modern painting and negotiate some vague cultural agreement as is officially claimed.

After a short stay in Paris where he mumbled something about "improvement in Franco-Soviet relations" and got snubbed by de Gaulle, Adzhubei took off for the Riviera to discuss modern painting with Communist sympathizer Pablo Picasso.

But diplomatic tongues are still wagging. What people are wondering is whether de Gaulle is entering a new phase of flirtation with the Soviet Union and whether he is secretly planning to visit Moscow.

Sources close to the general say that a visit to Moscow in the immediate future is out of the question but they do not rule it out of de Gaulle's political horizon.

What appears to have more direct significance is that the Soviet Union is anxious to give the impression that a French-Soviet rapprochement is not to be excluded and Adzhubei's presence in France is proof of that.

His presence is having an impact. The 40-year-old editor is

After the Riviera and before returning to Paris, he will visit such French provincial cities as Grenoble, Saint-Etienne, Lyons and Lille.

1964 Lawn-Boy grasscatcher ends raking spring, summer and fall

In the spring Lawn-Boy's grasscatcher lets you tidy up the lawn without tedious raking. In the fall it collects leaves. In the summer, of course, it gathers grass so efficiently the neighbours will think you spent hours raking. The grasscatcher is no trouble to use because it comes on and off in seconds and empties in a shake or two. Even wet grass and leaves can't clog it.

Lawn-Boy's Finger-Tip-Start engine is the easiest to start in the world. Pushing is easy because Lawn-Boy is made from ultra-light magnesium. And, to be easy on the ears, Lawn-Boy is extra quiet. Its muffler is the largest on any mower.

Income Tax Job Easier

Third Fewer Victorians Make Mistakes on Forms

People who go to pieces at the sight of an income tax return form have lessened by about one third in Victoria since last year, says the department of national revenue.

Officials at the department said yesterday that the recently introduced new returns with a simpler in-handle calculation formula for working out tax due from taxable income could be the reason for the decrease in mathematical mix-ups.

According to latest figures from the department's Taxation Data Centre in Ottawa, the decrease in form-filing inaccuracy is apparent at national level too.

"The table which goes with the new form now goes up to $5,000 instead of $3,000," explained an official at Victoria's national revenue department. "There have been fewer people in the office to ask questions or advice in making out their forms."

Main problem being experienced, he said, is that people receiving two identical forms—one to go to the data centre, one they should retain—have often filled out the front of the first form and the back of the second.

"This means that an incomplete form goes to the data centre and the person keeps the other half-complete copy. Then the centre sends us back the form and we have to get the rest of the information.

"The process is slowed down considerably especially for people awaiting a refund."

Another major slip on the part of most taxpayers, he said, was not filling in every part of the form.

"This means the data centre can't process the information," he said.

Although no local figures are available, the data centre's national figures show that as of March 28, only 8.5 per cent of forms required correcting, while last year 13.7 per cent had to be changed.

Tax computations by the centre's electronic division are speedier and more efficient than former laborious and time-consuming manual systems, says the department. However, electronic computation requires a high degree of accuracy to achieve the desired results and the department this year has, in addition to encouraging early filing, given special assistance for accuracy in the form of special pamphlets and increased counselling services at the centres of local and regional taxation offices.

"For the first time," the department says, "taxpayers who owe a balance on their returns can file together with a post-dated cheque for April 30—the last day for income tax filing."

Last word of advice from Victoria's National Revenue Office: "When the forms have been completed—don't forget to attach the necessary information slips."

Tory Charges:

RCAF Units In Europe 'Defenceless'

OTTAWA (CP)—Gordon Churchill, former Conservative defence minister, charged Wednesday that the Royal Canadian Air Force in Europe is defenceless because it has no armed aircraft.

He accused the government of failing to inform Parliament about the state of preparedness of Canadian squadrons assigned to NATO in Europe.

Mr. Churchill contended in the Commons that not a single Canadian aircraft in Europe is equipped to fight. Last fall, he added, Canadian air forces in Europe were in their "least prepared position" since the Second World War.

This is "not quite true," replied Associate Defence Minister Cardin.

The forces were in an even worse position when Mr. Churchill was defence minister, he said.

Mr. Cardin said no Canadian planes in Europe are armed with nuclear weaponry yet because of technical work still in proceeding on the storage dumps.

Wire-Tap Claims Studied

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Paveau said Wednesday he will look into criticisms by a retired RCMP sergeant about telephone wire-tapping in Canada.

He was replying in the Commons to R. G. L. Fairweather (PC—Royal), who referred to press reports of an interview in Vancouver with Ernest Nuttall, a witness in the Seattle murder trial of John Waryan, chuk of Burnaby.

Mr. Nuttall said Canadians would be "amazed" at the extent of wire-tapping in Canada, and that police have telephone company officials make recordings of phone conversations.

"Prime Minister Pearson should try again to enlist the co-operation of either or both on some basis."

Mr. Thompson said one way out of the impasse—"the worst angle problem we have in Canada right now"—may be for the federal government to confine its efforts in the field of social security to old age pensions, increasing them and keeping them in step with the cost of living.

Pact 'Eventually' For China, U.S.

WARSAW (AP)—Red Chinese ambassador Wang Ping-an declared Wednesday "we believe the differences now existing between China and the U.S. will eventually be settled."

The veteran diplomat made his statement to reporters after his final session of talks with the U.S. that began nine years ago in Geneva. Wang is leaving his post as ambassador to Poland.

Wang said U.S.-Chinese ambassadorial talks will continue in Warsaw July 29 with a new Chinese envoy.

Wang met for two hours with U.S. Ambassador John M. Cabot.

The interval is to allow the new Chinese representative to arrive here, Cabot explained at a separate meeting.

Rooney Free As Fund Pays Taxes

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Actor Mickey Rooney was granted court permission Wednesday to pay overdue federal and state income taxes with $91,000 from a trust fund that was not to have been touched until he was 60 years old.

The 43-year-old film star, who has been plagued in recent years by financial troubles which led him to file for bankruptcy, exclaimed after the permission was granted by superior Judge Ben Koenig:

"At last I'm free!"

The amount will be paid off from the trust fund which was established in 1946 from Rooney's earnings as an actor. The amount of the trust totals approximately $126,000.

Ordinarily, Rooney would get only the interest from assets in the trust fund until he became 60, when the entire amount would be paid to him.

Farm Researchers Pick Four Topics

OTTAWA (CP)—Four fundamental studies into Canadian farm life have been selected for the first work of the new agricultural Economics Research Council of Canada.

The council was incorporated in late 1962 as an independent farm research organization supported by the federal and provincial governments, farm groups, business and industry.

Research director W. J. Anderson said Wednesday that project one is a study of the relationship between farm policy and the various aspects of the so-called farm problem.

Item two will be an economic analysis of the feed grain freight assistance policy, which long has been a bone of contention, chiefly in eastern Canada and British Columbia.

The third project is a hard look at the sources of credit available to farmers and just how productive capital is on Canadian farms.

NDP Bid Fails

OTTAWA (UPI)—The New Democratic Party Wednesday called for all-party agreement to wind up the lengthy—and often tedious—debate on the government's $241,000,000 worth of final supplementary estimates by tonight.

But the proposal got no further than the estimates as the House failed to pass any items during the afternoon, despite an extra hour grabbed from time usually given to private members' business.

The estimates represent final spending for the fiscal year ended March 31. Some items were passed last week under two special appropriations. Bills, including money to replenish the Unemployment Insurance Fund,

11 DIFFERENT DAYS

The final supplementaries have been debated on 14 different days, some days at length but on other days for only an hour or so.

NDP leader T. C. Douglas said his party would agree to a deadline and to limiting itself to fielding only one speaker for each department.

Conservative House leader Gordon Churchill made no mention of agreeing to a fixed time limit when he gave his party's consent to suspending the private members' hour and continuing the debate.

Robarts Gives Indication Ontario Out of Pension Plan

By BOB EXELL

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Robarts said Wednesday Ontario would be surrendering its constitutional position as a province if it participated in the proposed Canada Pension Plan.

In a speech widely interpreted as setting the record clear once and for all that Ontario will stay out of the federal pension scheme, Mr. Robarts made these points in favor of a separate Ontario plan:

1. Canada's constitution, the British North America Act, gives the provinces the right to pass legislation in the pension field.

2. By having a plan of its own, Ontario would have complete control over any future alterations to retirement benefits for the people of the province.

3. Ontario would have complete control over 100 per cent of the monies built up in a pension fund through contributions, to be used for investment. (The federal government has offered 50 per cent control.)

4. Through its broader legislative powers in the pension field, Ontario could provide superior benefits to those offered in the federal scheme.

5. An Ontario plan could provide pensions that would be portable to other parts of the country where the Canada Pension Plan was in effect.

"We may take it for granted now that Quebec will not participate," Mr. Robarts said.

From the context of his own remarks, observers took it for granted that Ontario would not participate either, Mr. Robarts said.

The prime minister of Canada has indicated that the Canada Pension Plan is quite able to function and to provide benefits for the balance of the provinces of Canada which may wish to accept it, even if Quebec and Ontario are not to participate."

any pension plan providing adequate security and portability for all Canadians if Quebec and Ontario, accounting for more than half the population, do not take part.

SEEK CO-OPERATION

Mr. Thompson said one way out of the impasse—"the worst angle problem we have in Canada right now"—may be for the federal government to confine its efforts in the field of social security to old age pensions, increasing them and keeping them in step with the cost of living.

At a question period following a speech to the Montreal Junior Board of Trade, he said in a speech by Premier Robarts in Toronto earlier in the day indicates Ontario will stay out of the federal government's proposed Canada Pension Plan.

Move Ahead

LONDON (UPI)—Lined under export opportunities in the government's Board of Trade Journal, "France: guidelines for Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers, Europe."

Available Soon

Smoking Evils Published

HULL, Que. (UPI)—Health Minister Lalmarsh announced last night that two anti-smoking publications will soon be off the presses and ready for distribution by provincial governments.

The first publication, a reference book on smoking and health, is mainly designed for use by members of the health professions. Miss Lalmarsh said it will be "a valuable source of information on the major publications published in many countries on the health aspects of smoking."

The second is an information kit which contains excerpts from major publications and reports produced on the subject, informative pamphlets and posters for display. It will also contain, Miss Lalmarsh said, a selected bibliography of studies and papers on smoking and health, and a list of appropriate films and filmstrips.

The federal government will turn the literature over for use by the provincial governments.

Western Jet Out-Races Soviet MiGs

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI)—An American-designed F104G Super-Starfighter of the West German air force, that strayed over East Germany, out-maneuvred and out-raced a Communist jet interceptor to escape safely to the west, it was learned Wednesday.

The Dutch captain was over the East German city of Erfurt when he glanced into his rear view mirror and saw the west. The Russian MiGs — by diving on him.

The pilot accelerated to top speed — more than twice the speed of sound — and blasted almost straight up, one source said. He climbed, half-looped, half rolled and was on his way west. The Russian MiGs — by then there were two of them — fell back. "The pilots probably didn't believe their eyes," he said.

Gold Medal Memories

Alone with his memories, Bob Granger, 68, lives in a single room over an Alberni barber shop. Granger coached Percy Williams to two gold medals in the 1928 Olympics at Amsterdam.

Dying Girl

'Very Shocked, Naked, Bloody'

NANAIMO—An Alert Bay doctor told a Nanaimo Assize Court jury Wednesday what happened when he admitted a naked, blood-stained and semi-hysterical Indian girl to the Alert Bay hospital Nov. 7.

Dr. John Fairley was testifying in the capital murder trial of Robert Morley of Alert Bay, who is accused of causing the death of Rosalind Louise Williams, 10.

Dr. Fairley said that, when he first saw the girl Nov. 7, she was slumped in the back seat of a taxi and nude except for a small towel which covered part of her body. He said he was on his way home from the hospital when he was hailed by the taxi.

Dr. Fairley said that, when he first saw the girl Nov. 7, she was slumped in the back seat of a taxi and nude except for a small towel which covered part of her body. He said he was on his way home from the hospital when he was hailed by the taxi.

He described the girl as being in a "very shocked condition" and "semi-hysterical." He said there was blood on her skin, on the towel which covered her and on the back seat of the taxi.

Dr. Fairley estimated a main abdominal wound, two smaller wounds on the right arm and near the left shoulder blade and a number of superficial scratches he found on the girl would have been inflicted two or three hours before she arrived at the hospital.

Dr. Fairley estimated a main abdominal wound, two smaller wounds on the right arm and near the left shoulder blade and a number of superficial scratches he found on the girl would have been inflicted two or three hours before she arrived at the hospital.

Dr. Fairley told the court the girl had lost a lot of blood and was in a severe state of shock, but her particular blood type was not in the hospital. He said "the surgeon seemed to be having trouble stopping the bleeding."

Her blood pressure was dropping and her condition seemed to be deteriorating quickly. She was given a transfusion of blood of a type different from her own.

Coffin Case

Expert Says Indian Truthful During Test by Lie Detector

MONTREAL (CP)—An internationally-known Miami polygraph (lie detector) expert told the Coffin inquiry Wednesday he believes Mohawk Indian Francis Thompson told the truth during an examination when he denied killing two United States bear hunters.

However, expert Warren Holmes said under cross-examination he would not believe Thompson under oath.

Thompson underwent a lie detector test in 1958 after he verbally confessed to the killings, then told detectives he had made the story up to escape questioning. He was undergoing on a theft charge. He was subsequently freed and deported.

Mr. Holmes, former president of the International Polygraph Association, told the inquiry he believes Thompson is "a good subject" to take the polygraph examination.

He explained the Miami detective office may have delayed the test while waiting for additional information from Quebec Provincial Police on the slayings of three American hunters

The Road Back from Olympus Led to Lonely Alberni Room

By DENNIS ORCHARD

ALBERNI (CP)—The road back from Olympus leads to a drafty flight of stairs and a single room above a barber shop.

The door has no nameplate. The room has no pictures, no clippings, no scrapbooks—no mementoes to link Bob Granger with his past.

This post-souled man, now 68, lost them all from a lifelong habit of carelessness.

But Bob Granger remembers. He remembers running to the attic every night as a boy to watch the sunset over Vancouver Island. He can still see himself as a travelling 33-year-old track coach, captivated by a fleeting glimpse of the Empire State Building framed in rain-wet leaves.

And he remembers fashioning the talents of Percy Williams as possibly no other man could have—into a sensational double victory at the 1928 Olympic Games in Amsterdam.

Canada rejoiced when its great sprinter returned from Amsterdam with the 100-metre and 200-metre gold medals. The people of Vancouver still remember "the day Percy came home."

LIVES ON PENSION But Williams has always laid the credit at the doorstep of Granger, an impractical fanatic of sport who died his life to Williams' fortunes, lived with each victory and died a little with each defeat.

It is a humble doorstep today. Granger lives on his pension, heads a doctor's warning to take care of a weak heart and occasionally escapes the bother of cooking for himself by sweeping out a hotel parking lot in return for a coffee-shop meal.

He last saw Williams several years ago, and then by chance, although this pulp and paper town on Vancouver Island is just a few hours from Williams' home in Vancouver.

It's a far cry from 1926, when like a bloodhound he trailed his "child of nature," coaxing the reluctant 18-year-old high school student to apply his talents.

Granger at that time coached dozens of young Vancouver swimmers, rugby players and track men, and he cared no more for a dollar than he does now. He applied advanced techniques of instruction and conditioning gleaned from a library of books and his own experience.

RAN BEST ON HATE

Williams, carefree by nature, was impatient with Granger's discipline and clearly despised the work involved in sport. Granger used a bag of tricks—and on one occasion a poison pen—to keep him under control.

Because Williams "ran best on hate," Granger once forged a bitter letter that said the runner couldn't possibly win his race the next day. He signed it with the name of a person Williams thoroughly disliked.

Granger recalls that the next morning "after stewing all night on his adrenalin," Williams licked the field.

Such tactics paid off two years later when Williams tied the world 100-metre record of 10.8 seconds to win a trip to the Canadian Olympic trials in Hamilton. There, he ran another 10.6 that launched him on his way to Amsterdam.

Granger was strictly on his own as far as Canada's Olympic officials were concerned. He went East as a pauper boy on a CPR train and across the Atlantic on a third-class freighter with money raised at the last minute in Vancouver by Williams' mother.

At Amsterdam, Granger made elaborate preparations. He spilled corn—butter rub-downs and unique massages, he dressed Williams in three track suits, four sweaters and blankets before race time, and every night he slept outside the sprinter's door to fend off reporters and make sure the room had enough air.

When Williams beat the day's great names—Jack London, George Lammere, Frank Wyke, Wilfred Legg and Bob McAllister—to win the 100, Granger wept. When Williams passed Jacob Schuller, Jackson Scholz, Walter Rangleley and Helmut Koenig in the 200 for his second medal, Granger clasped a barbed-wire fence in excitement and greeted his protégé with blood-covered hands.

Williams toured United States indoor tracks in 1928, winning 14 times, losing only twice and tying or breaking four world records despite atrocious running conditions.

Yet, as Granger says now: "It was as if the hand of fate had written after the Olympics: 'Thus far and no farther.'"

No sprinter since has matched that "half-driving, half-skimming artistry of style." There have been no lasting

Master Dies Aboard Ship

NANAIMO—The CPR vessel Princess of Vancouver was held up for about 15 minutes on her 8:30 run to Vancouver Wednesday morning when she turned around to answer a distress call from a Greek freighter at anchor in the harbor.

Capt. Dionysus Patronas, master of the Greek freighter, Sa Maritini, was found dead in his cabin by ship's officers a few minutes before the ferry left the dock. Distress flags were run up and the whistle of the freighter was blown to attract the attention of officers aboard the Vancouver.

The large ship turned around in the harbor and hove to. The ship's radio was used to call Dr. Lawrence Giovando from Nanaimo, who went out to the freighter on a tug.

It is believed Capt. Patronas died of a heart attack about 4 a.m.

W. Watson, 315 Windermere Place, arrived home about midnight, took $34 out of his pocket and put it on the dresser. He then went out to his car parked some distance behind the house.

While outside he heard a door slam and someone run down steps, Victoria police reported. When he returned to the house his money was gone.

W. Martell of Port Coquitlam chased an intruder from his room at the Prince Charles Auto Court about 3:20 a.m. Wednesday. Victoria police later questioned two suspects.

J. Petne, 3223 Irma, reported to Victoria police yesterday that a handmade steel hitching post and candlesticks which had belonged to HMCS Beaver were stolen from his shed on Songhees Road.

Hospital Case Sequel

Report Unusual Deaths Ontario Doctors Told

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Hospital Association has issued recommendations aimed at ensuring that questionable hospital deaths are reported swiftly to coroners.

In a questionnaire accompanying the OHA circular, the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons has asked the province's 175 hospitals what action is taken to determine the competence of doctors granted hospital privileges and what disciplinary action is taken against offenders.

The moves follow recent inquiries into post-operative hospital deaths and criticism by Attorney-General Cas. That doctors and hospitals are not obeying the letter of the law in reporting questionable deaths to coroners.

The OHA circular says that all persons suspecting a questionable death must immediately inform a coroner and suggest that the primary responsibility for this rest with the attending physician or hospital administrator.

The college's questionnaire adds that one of the major responsibilities of hospitals' medical staff advisory committees is to inquire "into alleged instances of malpractice, incompetence, negligence . . . and make recommendations . . . for the curtailment, suspension or cancellation of the (offending) practitioner's privileges."

The moves follow recent inquiries into post-operative hospital deaths and criticism by Attorney-General Cas. That doctors and hospitals are not obeying the letter of the law in reporting questionable deaths to coroners.

Halibut Boats All Safe

All Canadian fishboats in the halibut-fishing area off Alaska are accounted for, Mrs. Anne Norbury, 10663 Kallitan, North Saanich, said last night.

Mrs. Norbury, whose husband works on the Nanaimo, owned by Nelson Brothers Fisheries, said the Vancouver firm had assured her that the Canadian fisheries patrol vessel Laurier kept tabs on the boats.

Winds up to 105 miles an hour were recorded by the Kodiak weather station when the 72-foot Prince Rupert halibut boat Blue Ocean was wrecked in Unimak Pass.

Charles Nelson, 4916 Lochside, is on the fishboat Millbank Sound after sailing for six years on the Sleep Robber. William Piro of Sooke is working as cook on the Pacific Belle.

"I heard from my husband from Kodiak just two days before the earthquake," Mrs. Norbury said. "Some people blame that and the tidal wave for the poor fishing."

KAMLOOPS (CP)—The village of North Kamloops has set up a receiving depot to handle donations to the Alberni Valley and West Coast Disaster Fund. The move was taken at the request of the B.C. Union of Municipalities.

Constitution Of SIU Opposed

MONTREAL (CP)—Three former members of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (Ind.) are seeking government support for their contention that the SIU constitution should be scrapped as "dictatorial, farcical and inimical to the rights and welfare of the members."

In a wire to Prime Minister Pearson they said an agreement to return the Canadian SIU to the direction of its members would permit SIU Vice-President Leonard McLaughlin and "other Banks" stooges to retain SIU positions, thereby perpetuating Banks' hoodlum empire.

Seaway Opening Earliest Ever

MONTREAL (CP)—The St. Lawrence Seaway, a 135-mile artery leading to the heart of Canada's economy, started 1964 operations Wednesday with a forecast of continued good health.

The opening was the earliest in the seaway's five-year history.

The freighter Totem Star was the first to pass through the St. Lambert lock on the south side of the St. Lawrence River opposite Montreal Island.

A mild winter that helped speed up maintenance operations and favorable ice conditions contributed to the early opening. The official date had been set at April 15, Wednesday.

Although the growth of seaway traffic is slower than officials had hoped for when it opened, R. J. Rankin, president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, predicted an increase in cargo tonnage this year "in the area of 20 per cent," which would make the 1964 tonnage approximately 34,000,000 tons.

In a statement, he cited favorable indicators in grain movements for overseas, from ore shipments to central Canada and foreign trade.

My overseas readers will be delighted to learn that the British golf season opened in traditional spring weather last week. As I compose this opening column, indeed, the wind is howling comfortably in the rafters and the icicles over the door have never looked prettier.

In the three warm-up tournaments to date I have suffered nothing worse than frostbite, influenza and chapped hands. The long-range weather forecasters predict that we shall be able to shed at least one of our seven sweaters by mid-July. By then, of course, we shall be in the monsoon season.

So, brothers, oh to be in England now that the tournament golf season is here!

These next few weeks I shall be telling you of players to watch, new names that have arisen in the fallow months, all the news from the international locker room.

But for now I would like to burden you with Old Max's Almanac because I believe that a fair number of these predictions—outrageous though one or two may seem at the moment—will come true to make the big golf headlines this year.

Prediction No. 1: That the undisputed reign of Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus as the great triumvirate of international golf is over.

For months now news has been trickling through from the United States that these two Americans and one South African have been punishing themselves so hard in the pursuit of fantastic sums of money that the strain was wrecking their nerves and constitutions.

This must be so. No player in history, for example, has fought so hard to get to the top as Player. But, like the other two, he is now making so much from business, television and equipment contracts that he's the nearest thing we've ever seen to a real-life Midas.

Prediction No. 2: Among the players most likely to displace one of these three men at the top is a Welshman—Dave Thomas.

I am well aware that for the past five years Thomas has been a great disappointment. But my faith in him remains unshaken.

His decision to quit a comfortable living in Britain and go out to fight the real fight in America this summer is virtually the make-or-buy point of his career.

I believe it will be make, not break. When this man opens his shoulders on those wide American fairways he will out-bust Palmer and Nicklaus.

Prediction No. 3: A major row in British golf inside three months over the decision to make the big PGA compulsory in PGA tournaments in Britain this season.

We all wanted it. We've clamored for it. And now that we've got it many of us are expressing doubts. In the first strokeplay tournament of the year, at Walton Heath, Surrey, there were plenty of us returning scores that were a disgrace to professional golf.

Frankly it was because we couldn't control the bigger ball in high winds; it was like hitting a rock. I was only one of many who found that I was losing 40 yards off my drive against the wind and often had to take a spoon instead of an eight-iron for my second shot.

I don't mind admitting that I made a mistake in my opinion of what the bigger ball could do for British golf.

Prediction No. 4: That of all the many names being talked about as the outstanding youngster in Britain at the moment, one who has scarcely received any publicity at all will prove the best of the lot in the end. His name? Tony Jacklin.

He's short and stocky, hits the ball low and immensely hard. Here's a Ryder Cup certainty if ever I saw one.

Prediction No. 5: Laugh if you like, but I'm backing a Briton to win the British Open for the first time since I did it more years ago than I like to remember.

I'm putting my money on two men—Peter Alliss and Neil Coles. And I base my reasoning not only on the roulette principle that it's more than high time a Briton's number came up, but that both these men, now in their prime, are playing well enough to pull it off against all comers.

These predictions amount to jumping off the deep end. Here I am, with the season hardly opened, committing myself to some pretty violent views.

Don't blame it on my ulcer. I spent three weeks in hospital this winter having that removed.

Blades Defeat Seals In WHL Showdown

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Defenceman Camille Bedard scored two goals to spark Los Angeles to a 3-1 victory over San Francisco and take a 1-0 lead in the Western Hockey League playoffs at the Sports Arena Wednesday night.

Bedard, the 28-year-old veteran who played for the Seals last year, pushed the Blades to a 2-0 lead in the second period on a pair of long shots.

His first goal was a 40-footer which he let go from just inside the blue line and his second score was a 35-foot shot he took when the Seals were short-handed.

San Francisco's Mo Mantha snapped goalie Jack Norris' chances for a shutout at 10:42 of the third period, connecting on a 25-foot shot which slammed into the top corner of the net.

History Leans to Wings, Leafs

For the first time since 1941, both Stanley Cup hockey semi-finals have been forced to a seventh game, and if history means anything it will be Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs who survive tonight's deciding games in Chicago and Montreal.

Since the first best-of-seven series was played in 1939, the Wings have been involved in eight of the 11 that went the whole seven, and they've won six of them. Chicago has lost its only seven-game series, Leafs won three of their five, and Canadians two of five.

So much for statistics. In all four games yesterday, the clubs were ignoring the figures, counting the wounded, and complaining about the referee's decisions.

Beliveau, sidelined since the fourth game when he was boarded by Toronto's Eddie Shack, has started during the past three days and received winning players and the $750 for losers.

In Montreal, Canadians, who haven't made the final in the last three years, were sold 85 favorites to dispose of the Leafs, perhaps due to the return of centre and scoring leader Jean Beliveau, perhaps because they'll be on home ice.

Stormy Meeting Tonight

Shamrocks' Knuckles to Be Rapped

By JIM TAYLOR

There's a meeting of the Inter-City Lacrosse League Monday in Vancouver, and some time during the evening Victoria Shamrocks are going to get chewed out.

Vancouver president Bill Ellison will throw charges in all directions, all aimed at proving the Shamrocks are out-and-out thieves for trying to sign Vancouver junior Norm Nestman.

It's rather a funny time to turn virtuous. For years the league's member teams have been pulling double deals that would make a card shark blush, trying to pry star players away from each other.

NOT NICE

Now it's suddenly been discovered that stealing isn't nice, and all because of a junior goalkeeper who has yet to prove himself of senior calibre.

Nestman is on Vancouver's protected list, and Vancouver said yesterday it would refuse to give him his release if he would not play for them. Nestman's answer last night was "I'll sit out the year before I'll go back."

FEW CHARGES

It's probably going to be a nasty meeting, because Shamrocks have a few charges of their own.

They cite the case of Bob McKee, who asked for a transfer to Nanaimo because he was working in that area. Shamrocks were told by commissioner Tommy Gordon the transfer would have to be given, because McKee was living in the Nanaimo area. Nestman is living in Victoria, but Gordon says Vancouver does not have to give him out.

HOW COME?

They also remember the strange goings on surrounding the transfer of Shamrocks' Stu Smith to Vancouver, at a time when both Smith and Tom English were attending University of British Columbia.

In exchange for Smith's transfer, Vancouver was to get English a job in Vancouver and fly him to and from Victoria for Shamrock games. There was also talk of player help. It never materialized, and Vancouver eventually wound up with both players.

FIRST CRACK

Shamrock also recall the night Vancouver came here for a game last year. Just before the game, Ellison promised Shamrocks he would tell them that night who he was going to cut, to give them first crack at the players. Shamrocks proceeded to beat Vancouver, 9-3, and Ellison suddenly didn't have any players to spare.

Shamrocks never approached Nestman, but what if they had? Does anybody seriously think it would be the first time such a thing has happened, or the last?

GREEN STAMP?

Anyone who thinks lacrosse is an amateur sport is either naive or out of touch. Jack Blonda plays lacrosse for money, not green stamps, and he did not leave the east for Victoria, Victoria for New Westminster, New Westminster for Nanaimo and Nanaimo for New Westminster because he likes to tour beautiful British Columbia.

There isn't a club in the league that doesn't recruit. They hide it in various manners, but they still recruit, and

Willie Won't Beef

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—In an era of complaining losers, Willie Pastrano appears as odd as a teen-ager driving 30 miles an hour on a speedway.

The light-heavyweight champion lost a non-title 10-rounder to Argentina's Gregorio Peralta last Sept. 20 and never once did he give out with the standard "we wuz robbed."

"He beat me, no question about it," said Pastrano again today. "He's an awkward type fighter who surprised me with his style. I was in good shape physically but not mentally. I guess I was too overconfident."

"I'd never heard of him. I thought he was just another one of those wild swingers from Argentina like Jorge Fernandez and Rocky Jorga."

"But he's cute and knows what he's doing. He shifts from a right handed to a left handed stance and he had me baffled. This time I'll be ready for him."

Pastrano, 28, gave his return crack at the Argentine Friday in a 15-round title fight. It will be televised by ABC at 7 p.m.

Scots Rugby Visit May 13

Scotland's international rugby side will play an exhibition match against B.C. all-stars May 13 in Victoria.

Confirmation of the match was made last night by spokesmen for the B.C. Rugby Union, which has been negotiating for some time to bring the Scottish side here for a match.

Scotland is the current holder of the Calcutta Cup, emblematic of the British Isles championship, and was the only side to hold the touring New Zealand All-Blacks scoreless in their tour last February. Their match ended in a scoreless draw.

Managing the club is former Scottish international Clark Drummond, who played for the national team in 1948. With him on that club was Dave McKenzie, current president of the Victoria Rugby Union, who will be referee for the match against all-stars.

Match will be played at 6:30 p.m. at Macdonald Park. Selection of the B.C. team will be announced at a later date.

Saskatoon Three Up

Kimberley Shaded

KIMBERLEY (CP)—The Saskatoon Quakers won the third game in the western semi-final Allan Cup playoffs Wednesday on Alex Kuzma's goal at 14:41 of sudden-death overtime, defeating Kimberley Dynamiters, 5-4.

The result gave Saskatoon a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven game series. Next game is Friday.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Maroons battered Port Arthur Bearcats, 9-0, Wednesday to sweep their best-of-seven western Canada Allan Cup semi-final series in straight games and enter the western final for the third straight year.

Maroons will await a winner from the west's other semi-final between Kimberley and Saskatoon.

Their victory Wednesday over Bearcats, Thunder Bay champions this year for the sixth consecutive time, followed Monday's 8-3 win, also in Winnipeg.

In the first two games, played at the Lakehead, Winnipeg took 5-3 and 6-3 decisions.

Winnipeg Cage Champs

Broders Bow in Three

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Buffaloes Wednesday registered their third straight comeback victory over the defending Canadian champion Lethbridge Broders with a 75-57 win which gave them the Western Canada title in straight games.

Buffaloes' third consecutive victory eliminated Lethbridge from the best-of-five final following opening decisions of 85-65 and 96-69.

The newly-crowned western champions travel east to meet Toronto Kings in a best-of-five series for the Dominion crown, won by Broders last three years.

Copper Strike Next Door Sends Mine's Stock Up

By HARRY YOUNG
Columnist Business Editor

PCE Explorations Ltd., a Toronto mining company which did some exploratory work on its claims in the Bridge River area of B.C., was the hot performer on the Toronto Stock Exchange Wednesday.

PCE stock more than doubled in value at 25 cents, and more than 1,200,000 shares traded. The company is said by president D. M. Doherty to have acquired 12 claims in three blocks northwest of Timmins, Ont., and near those of Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. which is reported to have made a significant copper strike.

IRELAND AREA

PCE Explorations, along with Raynor, has also an interest in the Dolan-Creelman Trust Co. which has been doing exploration work in the Silgo-Galway area of Ireland. Texas Gulf, listed on the New York stock exchange, has recently risen in price from $23 to $29½, reportedly as a result of its Timmins discoveries.

A striking rush is said to be taking place in the area. Bunker Hill is another Canadian company with interests near the new strike.

OFFER FROM JAPAN

The Japanese Economic Journal says six Japanese companies have agreed to put up $10,000,000 toward the cost of bringing the Granduc Mining Co.'s property near Stewart, B.C., into production. This is about a fifth of the money which will be required.

Newmont Mining Corp., which controls Granduc, declined to comment on the Japanese report.

COPPER PROFIT

A net profit of $321,089 was made in 1963 by Coast Copper Co. Ltd., a subsidiary of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada, situated near Qualicum Sound, milled 281,347 tons of 1.85 per cent copper during the year. It compared with a loss of $246,838 in 1962 when heavy start-up expenses were incurred.

Court Claim

'Mechanical Monster' Taking Over

A defence lawyer in an impaired driving case said in city magistrate's court yesterday the prosecution was trying to replace expert medical evidence with a "mechanical monster."

W. B. Monteith was defence lawyer in an impaired driving charge against Sigvald S. Selkmo of 1564 North Dairy. Crown evidence consisted largely of police testimony about Selkmo's condition and the results of a breathalyzer test.

RECENT CASES

During the course of his argument Mr. Monteith said that in this case and other recent ones the "Victoria prosecution" is and has been trying to do away with the expense of expert medical testimony and rely on a mechanical monster called a breathalyzer.

Magistrate William Ostler postponed his judgment to April 16 so he can consider arguments by Mr. Monteith.

Warren First Say Negroes

CHICAGO (AP) — U.S. Chief Justice Earl Warren is the white man most trusted by American Negro leaders, says Ebony magazine. The magazine, reporting on a poll of prominent Negroes, said Ralph McGill, publisher-editor of the Atlanta Constitution, and U.S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy were runners-up.

Romania Toes Neutral Line

VIENNA (AP) — The Romanian Communist party newspaper Scinteia, in publishing a speech by Premier Khrushchev, left out all parts dealing with the Soviet-Chinese feud. This was regarded here as another indication Romania is attempting to continue its policy of neutrality between Moscow and Peking.

Reds Destroy Hate-Jew Book

PARIS (Reuters) — Investia says all copies of the book Judaism Unmasked have been destroyed. The book, published in the Ukraine, was strongly criticized by the Russian press recently for containing anti-semitic propaganda.

The 1963 results included depreciation allowance of $68,000 and preproduct on development expenses of $314,799.

DIVIDENDS DROP

For the first time since last November dividends paid by Canadian companies are down, according to J. R. Timmins, investment dealer.

This month's payments of $75,121.196 are down from $76,133,500 in April, 1963, when the month's total was swelled by more than $4,000,000 in payments from Shawinigan Water and Power, Gattineau Power and Quebec Power. The companies have been taken over by Quebec Hydro and are thus no longer dividend payers. Biggest increase was the dividend by Hiram Walker, which was doubled at $5,200,000 following the stock split.

TAR SANDS DEAL

Premier Manning says the deal he has made with Great Canadian Oil Sands Ltd. would ensure Alberta residents will be given an opportunity to invest in the $100,000,000 project.

Great Sands has been successful in having its daily production rate raised from 31,800 barrels to 45,800 barrels a day, and production from the tar sands, containing an estimated 628,000,000 barrels, is to begin in 1970.

The plant will be near McMurray where plans are being made for a population growth from 1,200 at present to 12,800 by 1970.

SPURRED BY BONUS

Sales of building materials by Dominion Tar and Chemical in the first quarter of 1964 rose 80 per cent from the corresponding period of 1963, according to W. N. Hall, president.

The $500 federal grant for winter construction work and stockpiling to forestall the increase in the sales tax April 1 were held responsible for the rise in sales.

DOING BETTER

Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. in 1963 increased its consolidated net income to $3,317,378 ($1.12) from $2,285,390 ($1.37) in 1962. Sales rose to $142,453,449 from $139,832,014, and export business amounted for 24 per cent of total sales. Hawker Siddeley made a net profit in 1963 of $2,191,947 (17 cents) compared with $1,366,973 (7 cents) in 1962.

SILKNIT TO SPLIT

Silknit Ltd. is asking shareholders to approve a three-for-one stock split at the annual general meeting April 24.

The company made a net profit of $314,550 ($4.26) in 1963 against $307,308 ($4.17) in 1962. Earnings before taxes were up 31 per cent at $557,550.

Trucks

Noise Ban Urged

City council will be asked to crack down on noise caused by heavy lumber trucks rolling along Government Street toward the Ogden Point mills.

Stiffer anti-noise measures were called for yesterday by the city's advisory traffic committee composed of civic and business representatives.

THREE PROPOSALS

Ald. M. H. Mooney, chairman of the committee, said after yesterday's meeting, which was held in camera, that the group asked for:

● A crackdown on overloaded trucks.

● A ban on air or gas-powered horns.

● A requirement that all heavy trucks have two exhaust mufflers instead of one.

"We have been struggling with this problem of truck noise on Government Street for some time and we believe these measures will do much to alleviate the situation," said Mr. Mooney.

Business Blacklist

No Boycott 'Done Every Day'

The Victoria Visitors' Bureau's plan to publish lists of official subscribers and not deal with anyone not on the list was a positive action, not a negative one, hotel operator Nick North said yesterday.

Mr. North, chairman of the bureau's membership committee, spoke after Labor Minister Peterson said the B.C. government could legislate against business boycotts.

SCRATCH BACK

"But this is not a boycott," said Mr. North. "It's simply a drawn-up list of people who support Victoria's tourist industry. It's done in business every day. If a company sends me business, I'll scratch their back."

The "indirect" boycott was suggested at a bureau meeting Tuesday by director Sam Lane of the Olds England Inn.

The provincial Trades Union Act bans boycott lists during labor disputes.

The Labor Relations Act forbids unions from contributing dues they collect to politics but places no limits on business fund activities.

"This is not a suggested blacklist of tourist freeloaders," said Mr. North. "It's just a list of people who do contribute to the tourist industry."

Mr. Peterson said he doubted if this action constituted a boycott, but added, "I'd prefer not to make any positive comment on the matter."

Contact Lens Changes On Optometrists' Agenda

New developments in contact lenses will highlight the agenda of the 1964 convention of the B.C. Optometric Association, opening April 26 at the Empress Hotel.

The association will hold four-day deliberations with more

New Rule Proclaimed

Court's Power Cut In Retarded Cases

Courts now may order admissions to Woodlands school for the retarded only if there is suitable accommodation available.

The ruling came yesterday when the B.C. cabinet proclaimed section 44 of a new Mental Health Act, which would "prevent chaos" said Labor Minister Leslie Peterson, who is acting attorney-general.

The move was within hours of a Court of Appeal ruling upholding an order to admit a six-year-old Vancouver girl to Woodlands.

"But it will not affect this particular case," said Mr. Peterson. "It will merely prevent further court actions from arising and enable the administration, rather than the courts, to determine the medical conditions necessary for admission."

In Tuesday's unanimous court decision, lawyer Gordon Dowding, NDP MLA for Burnaby, argued that the cabinet had illegally prevented admissions to Woodlands since 1960 when it overrode the Mental Defectives Act to give the superintendent discretion.

Cool and Damp

Sunny Chios

Ship Captain Boasts Of Aegean Island

By DON GAIN

One of a fabulous fleet of ships is in Victoria to pick up wheat and lumber for Japan: It's the 15,800-ton motorship Atlantic Falcon.

Registered owner is Ocean Cargo Line, Monrovia, Liberia, but she actually belongs, or did belong, to Stavros Livanos from the island country of Greece.

"He owned 70 ships," Capt. Apostolos Mathioudis said, "when he died in Paris last year."

ALL HIS SHIPS

"And they were all his," he added with emphasis.

His meaning became clear when he said other shipowners in Greece might control more ships, but didn't own them outright.

"Like Onassis?" I asked.

"Yes, and Niarchos."

They were both sons-in-law of Stavros Livanos, he told me, at least until Tina Onassis divorced her husband Aristotle and married the Marquis of Blandford. Evgenia, her sister, is still married to Stavros Niarchos.

The captain said his ship was loading 2,625 tons of wheat at Ogden Point and 2,700,000 board feet of lumber at the Esquimalt drydock wall. The balance of his cargo of lumber will be picked up in Vancouver, wheat in Portland, Ore., and pulp in Alberni and Harmac.

ON TIME CHARTER

The ship, on time charter to Sagus Marine Corporation, New York, will take her cargo to Tokyo, Yokohama, Osaka and Okinawa.

She came to B.C. after taking steel products from Japan to California. Her usual role as a general cargo tramp takes her all over the world.

BUILT IN ENGLAND

Built in Haverton-on-Teens, England, five years ago, she is 517 feet long and carries a crew of 33.

Hanging in the captain's saloon were large photos of the owner's parents, George and Evgenia Livanos.

"They came from my home, the Island of Chios," he said.

BONN—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will pay an official visit to Ottawa June 9 and 10 at Prime Minister Pearson's invitation before a trip to the U.S.

He told me about the sunny island in the Aegean Sea not far from Smyrna in Turkey. Most of the 75,000 people are farmers, grow olives and citrus crops, grapes, grain, almonds, corn.

In one part of the island all they can grow is the mastic tree, he said. It gives a white, milk-like sap which is used for chewing gum, varnishes and glues.

Ex-MLA

Dies at 61

VANCOUVER (CP)—George Massey, 61, former Social Credit member of the B.C. legislature for Delta constituency, died Wednesday.

He served as an MLA from 1956 to 1960 when he was defeated by New Democratic Party candidate Mrs. Camille Mather.

Surviving are his widow and a son and daughter.

WHOLE VILLAGES LIVE FROM IT.

When Chios was under Turkish rule they took the mastic for the harem ladies of the sultan. They used it like chewing gum.

In return, the island enjoyed a kind of independence that the others didn't.

Stavros Livanos did a lot for Chios, but he didn't have much to say about his charities, the captain said.

HARD WORKER

"He didn't go for the high life," he said. "He was a hard worker. He would never stop until he died of a heart attack last year."

"Chios is one of seven places which the old Greeks considered to be Homer's birthplace."

He wrote them in Greek but could remember only six.

I found the reference in Bartlett's Quotations.

"Seven cities strive for the learned root of Homer: Smyrna, Chios, Colophon, Ithaca, Pylos, Argos, Athens."

Fabulous country, Greece.

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berlin border guards Wednesday refused to allow a Soviet diplomat to cross from East Berlin unless he produced his passport. U.S. military police intervened to get him through after an 80-minute delay.

The West Berlin police and customs officials were acting under new Berlin city hall instructions which conflict with Allied practices, western sources said.

WEST IRRITATED

Western diplomats were reported irritated because they had not been informed of the city action and because it upset four-power procedure.

They said an attempt by West Berlin to control access of Soviet diplomats and officials into the U.S. sector of the city would play into the hands of the Communists who insist East and West Berlin are separate cities.

PROVE NATIONALITY

The West Berlin instructions, issued by deputy mayor Heinrich Albertz, stated all diplomats entering the city must show their passports or other proof of nationality to border officials.

Diplomats accredited to the East German government are issued identity cards which prove their diplomatic status but does not show their nationality.

AIMED AT AGENTS

Albertz' action apparently was aimed to block entry of East German agents identified as diplomats on East German foreign ministry identification cards.

The move conflicted with Allied practice that Soviet diplomats, as representatives of one of the four occupying powers, need prove their identity only to U.S. military police.

For Developing Nations

Soviets to Lift Tariffs

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union announced Wednesday it will lift its tariffs on all goods from the developing countries. Western experts immediately termed the gesture meaningless.

B. V. Spandaryan, the Soviet delegate to the massive World Development Conference in Geneva, bid for the support of the smaller nations by saying his government is willing to abolish its tariffs on their exports beginning Jan. 1.

Western officials said all Russian trade is handled by state monopolies and Soviet tariffs are irrelevant because the government also markets the goods it buys.

Therefore, they charged, abolishing tariffs would not increase the sales of goods or commodities from the developing countries.

Princess In White

Spattered with sunshine and bordered with blossoms, CFE's Princess Patricia shows off new coat of white paint. She leaves Inner Harbor dock April 27 to have bottom scraped, probably in Seattle because of shipyard strike here. Britain

Vote News Within 24 Hours

LONDON (CP)—The uncertainty over the British election may be resolved within 24 hours.

An announcement is expected today and the forecast is for a date in October, possibly Thursday, Oct. 8.

Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home is thought to have conveyed word of his decision to the Queen in a Buckingham Palace audience Wednesday.

QUEEN IN LONDON

The Queen came to London on personal business from Windsor Castle, where the Royal Family is in residence. The audience was officially described as routine, but political sources acknowledge that it could also have been a momentous one if the prime minister did indeed break the election secret.

Opinion has appeared to be hardening in the Conservative party in the last few days in favor of an October vote. Previously June was considered the most likely month. The election must be held by November.

TWO ELECTIONS

This will be the first time in 40 years that Britain and the United States have had national elections in the same year. The U.S. presidential election will be in November.

MacArthur Betrayed In Korea?

NEW YORK (UPI)—The late General of the Army Douglas MacArthur charged that he was betrayed in Korea by the British who were abetted by "fools" and "Anglo-Saxonophiles" in Washington. It was reported today.

At Washington, a British embassy spokesman described the reported charges against Britain as being "without foundation." He said it was "utterly fantastic" to suggest that Britain would "sell out" Commonwealth troops in Korea by tipping the Communist Chinese to MacArthur's plans.

The charge was contained in a memo written in 1954 by Scripps-Howard correspondent Jim Lucas, after a long private conversation with MacArthur in New York. The memo, copyrighted by the Scripps-Howard newspapers, was published today.

MacArthur also bitterly criticized a number of U.S. leaders, including Harry S. Truman.

Lucas, who won a Pulitzer Prize for his coverage of the Korean War, kept the memo in his files until today, feeling honor-bound not to report any of it as long as MacArthur was alive because of the seriousness of the charges and the frankness of the language.

MacArthur's most serious charge was that he had the Communists in the "palm of my hand" several times during the Korean war but was prevented from crushing them "by the policy of the British and by constant harassment and interference from Washington."

"He referred to this as The Great Betrayal, a story he said was unmatched in history but 'will never be told while I am alive,'" the Lucas memo said.

MacArthur told Lucas that every message he sent to Washington from Korea and every message Washington sent to him "was shown to the British by the state department, and that, within 48 hours, was relayed by the British, either through India or through the Russian embassy in London, to the Chinese Communists."

NEW IN ADVANCE

"Thus, he said, the Chinese Communists have in advance every step he proposed to take," Lucas reported. "The Chinese Communists decided to come into the Korean war, he said, after being assured by the British that MacArthur would be hamstringed and could not effectively oppose them."

The general pulled no punches in describing his contemporaries:

President Harry S. Truman—"The little bastard honestly believes he's a patriot," MacArthur admitted, however, that Truman was "a man of raw courage and guts" who acted instinctively to the South Korean invasion until (secretary of state) Dean Acheson brought him under control."

President Dwight D. Eisenhower—"although he was 'once a man of honor,' his administration did not make decisions on the basis of right or wrong but purely on the basis of re-acting to Congress."

The late secretary of defence Gen. George Marshall—"An errand boy for the state department."

Gen. Matthew Ridgway, MacArthur's successor to the Korean command—"A chameleon" who "did a complete flip-flop in 24 hours" when he learned Washington opposed MacArthur's Korean war strategy.

In Capitol Johnson Salutes General

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, the last commander-in-chief of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, saluted his memory with an impressive tribute Wednesday as the celebrated soldier's body was carried to the Capitol to lie in state.

It was placed on a black-draped bier in the high-domed rotunda of the U.S. Capitol, where, last November, president Kennedy's body lay in state.

Johnson went to meet the train that carried MacArthur's family and his coffin from New York to Washington. Then he rode in a cortege through about six miles of rain-swept streets from the railway station to a point near the White House and then up Capitol Hill to the rotunda.

Finally, the president placed a huge wreath of red, white and blue flowers at the foot of the coffin, stepped back a pace, closed his eyes and bowed his head in silent prayer.

PREMIER MOVED
Johnson's face was working with emotion when he left. He walked behind Mrs. MacArthur and her son, Arthur, 26, a tall, slim, dark-eyed man.

700-028-115 Numbering 50,000

By ALAN CAMPBELL

About 50,000 Greater Victorians will have their new social insurance numbers by 27/6/64, says 700-028-115, local Unemployment Insurance Commission manager.

Mr. 700-028-115, formerly known as George Bevis, says the Victorians will be among 6,000,000 Canadian workers who will receive numbered cards by that date—June 27.

The switchover here will be in two phases. Those who pay into the unemployment insurance fund will be numbered by May 15, the rest by the later date.

The procedure for Victorians:

Employers issue applications to employees and the completed forms are returned to the UIC Victoria office, edited and sent to a regional processing centre in Vancouver.

Complex data processing equipment there assigns a nine-digit number to each applicant and the resulting cards are mailed to Winnipeg for remailing to employers along with new unemployment insurance books.

The cards will be in three parts—the first part to be retained by the employer if he desires, the second to be kept in a safe place at home and the third "preferably" carried on the person of the worker.

Mr. Bevis said it would be desirable to carry the card, to simplify government operations.

There is no penalty for not carrying the card, but it is compulsory to apply if you are paying into the fund.

"We think it is a good idea," he said. "There have been a few objections from people who fear too much regimentation, but once they find out what it is for, they usually comply."

The numbers won't be made available to police or any government agency, but the numbers will probably be used under the proposed Canada Pension Plan.

The only exemptions among wage earners, are members of the armed services and agricultural workers, employees of churches and charitable organizations.

Unemployed persons will apply for their cards when claiming benefits, Mr. Bevis says.

"The response has been good here," he says. "We are getting cards to people in seven days from the time we get the applications back."

Three editors have been hired to handle the applications and as many as eight may be required.

This is 700-028-115

Few Figure to Fight

Saanich

Green Belt Vote Likely

By BOB FETHICK

Saanich hopes to put a $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 money bylaw for purchase of park lands and the building of roads and sidewalks to the people next winter.

Coun. Leslie Passmore drew a round of applause when he told a meeting of the Capital Region branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada that Saanich had come to the conclusion green belts are good.

He said that, at a meeting of Saanich finance committee, the chairman of the lands and planning committee had been authorized to bring in a report on all the land available for sale in Saanich which would be desirable for green belt use.

ABOUT FIVE ACRES

Mr. Passmore said property had already been purchased by the municipality in the lower end of Prospect Lake. About five acres was involved.

He said council was still waiting for a purchase price to be set by the city on Beaver Lake Park.

Adding to the existing start of a green belt, he said, were Mount Douglas Park and the Rithet property in its natural state in the vicinity of the reservoir.

Short Stay

Arriving at Patricia Bay Saturday morning, Defence Minister Hellyer will confer with navy, army and air force officers in course of west coast visit. He will return to Vancouver the same afternoon.

City Reaction:

School Case Urgent

The provincial cabinet yesterday renewed its annual appeal to B.C. school boards to borrow for capital expenditures only "in cases of extreme emergency," but Greater Victoria officials said last night the board will press on with its building and borrowing programs.

School board chairman Mrs. A. B. Thompson said Victoria's case was "extremely urgent."

WONT BE ENOUGH

The board is still awaiting provincial approval of a school building referendum. "I am fearful that, if it isn't approved soon, there won't be enough accommodation for pupils in September."

"Victoria looks at every nickel before it's spent," said Mrs. Thompson. "We would not be building or asking for sites unless it was absolutely necessary."

TOTAL OF 150

"I don't think the board has been unjustified in anything it has asked for."

The referendum involves acquisition of sites for new schools and additions to existing schools for a total of 150 classrooms. Cost is expected to top $5,000,000.

Until the education department approves it, nothing can be done. The board hopes it can present the referendum to the voters April 25.

The cabinet's appeal said school boards should defer submission of questions to the electorate "in view of excessive current interest rates."

However, Education Minister Peterson said the main reason was the volume of school construction now.

ALREADY APPROVED

The Greater Victoria board yesterday was authorized to borrow $1,000,000 in a cabinet approval of $10,000,000 in borrowing by 23 B.C. boards for construction and other capital expenses. This amount is for building works already approved for the area.

Other island boards given authority to borrow were Saanich, $100,000; Lake Cowichan, $140,000; Alberni, $100,000; Courtenay, $200,000, and Campbell River, $140,000.

Today

Strike Foes Meeting

A meeting between the parties in the B.C. shipyards strike, now in its third month, has been arranged by Labor Minister Peterson for 10 a.m. today.

Mr. Peterson said last night the meeting will have as chairman deputy labor minister William Sands of Victoria.

ALMOST DAILY

He said members of the government labor department have been in almost daily discussion with both labor and management representatives.

Mr. Peterson talked about the strike Tuesday with North Vancouver Mayor William Angus and Reeve Murdo Fraser of the district municipality of North Vancouver.

VOTE REQUEST

Today's talks will be the first between union and management in almost three weeks.

At the last meeting, March 20, the companies asked the unions to take a proposal for a four-year contract with wage increases totaling 40 cents an hour to the employees for a vote. The unions did, and it was announced March 26 that the vote was overwhelmingly against accepting the offer.

EVEN FOUR YEARS

One recent suggestion from a union source has been a three-year, or even four-year, contract with 15-cents-an-hour wage increases each year.

Some 2,000 employees, members of 22 unions, have been on strike against Burrard Dry Dock in North Vancouver and Yarrow's and Victoria Machinery Depot in Victoria since early February.

Community Changing Constitution

View Royal Community Association is to revise its by-laws and constitution at a general meeting Monday, to "bring them up to date."

"Our constitution was drawn up a few years ago," said president Joseph Sutherland last night. "Some of the financial restrictions in the constitution are pretty well unworkable."

Mr. Sutherland said a new constitution would be simpler than many individual changes.

"We are hoping for a good turnout so no one can say afterwards the officials went over members' heads."

Federalists Booming In Victoria

The Victoria branch of the World Federalists of Canada is now 201 strong, an increase of 80 per cent since last year, membership committee chairman Mrs. W. Burdill told the annual meeting last night.

Re-elected president for 1964 was Dr. L. Austin Wright. Other officers are Dr. E. H. Richardson, vice-president; C. K. Morrison, secretary, and John Fraser, treasurer, who said the branch sent $3,000 of the $4,000 it raised last year to the national office at Ottawa.

Clam-Dig Ban Over Soon

Signs prohibiting clam digging in Esquimalt Lagoon might be taken down Saturday or Sunday, senior metro health officer Dr. John Whitbread said yesterday.

The ban was imposed last month following a break in the sewer line running from nearby Belmont Park naval housing area.

Dr. Whitbread said the broken pipe was fixed 10 days ago and a careful watch has been kept since that time.

Lumber and grain shipments through the port of Victoria are holding up well, even though there have been days when Ogdan Point has been without despatch ships.

To offset this there have been times, like last weekend, when all docks were full, two ships were anchored in Royal Roads and still another had to wait at Victoria Machinery Depot for a berth.

ONLY TEMPORARY

"We're pushed right now," Harbormaster Capt. Ronald Newell said last night. "But this is only temporary. It even's out."

"There are ups and downs but prospects for the future are good," said Kenneth Briggs of King Brothers, ship agents. "We've been getting increased trade to the Orient in both grain and lumber. Certainly in the last four or five months we've been the busiest we've ever been. We could be up anything from 15 to 25 per cent."

HALF WHEAT SHIPPED

About half of Canada's sales of 250 million bushels of wheat to Russia now has been shipped, a Canadian wheat board spokesman said yesterday.

B.C. ports shipped 18,634,764 bushels of grain in March. This is no record but a good average. Of this amount Victoria shipped 886,320 bushels, compared with 509,973 from New Westminster, 888,533 from Prince Rupert and 16,350,938 from Vancouver.

The total is down from 1963 and 1962 but this was partly

Bail of $2,500 Set In Abduction Case

A fourth youth has been arrested in connection with the abduction and beating of Bill Morgan, 19, of Saanich Road, Tuesday afternoon.

Three youths charged in the beating and robbery Tuesday of a 19-year-old youth appeared in Saanich magistrate's court yesterday.

Charles Michael Keith Ash, 18, of 860 Parklands; Eugene A. Hunt, 18, of 348 Michigan; and Russ Tschirter, 19, of 444 Ellery, were charged yesterday with robbery with violence and with abduction. The latter charge carries a maximum penalty of five years.

The three were remanded to today to decide how they wish to be tried. Bail was set at $2,500 each.

They are charged with stealing with violence a camera, a wrist watch and $10 from Alfred William Morgan, 3557 Saanich Road, and with "confining" him "without lawful authority."

Mr. Morgan told Saanich police that he was thumbing a ride Tuesday and was picked up by a gang of youths in a car, taken to a remote section of Durrance Road, beaten up, robbed and left by the roadside.

To Fight Senseless Crimes:

Jot Down the Details

Following an unusual number of senseless crimes in the Victoria area recently, the Victoria police chief said last night the best way witnesses to such acts can help police is through identification.

"Identification of persons responsible is of prime importance to police," said Chief J. F. Gregory.

He urged witnesses to take careful mental note of such details as licence numbers and appearances of cars and their occupants.

Saanich Chief W. A. Pearson said there have been six or seven cases of unprovoked assaults in the Victoria-Saanich area in the past couple of months.

And, he said, vandalism is another recent problem. He said there have been 60 instances in the past two or three months in Saanich alone of houses being broken into and vandalized.

Two prime objects of thieves, he said, are money and liquor. If they don't find either, or if they get "liquored up," the culprits are likely to "take it out on" premises.

He said the recent beatings and vandalism are generally the work of young people, but fortunately of a very small minority.

"Ninety-nine-point-one - odd per cent are good citizens," Chief Gregory said he is glad to see police are succeeding in arresting persons responsible for the outbreaks. "From there on, it's up to the courts."

Inspections Slated For Militia

Three Victoria militia units will have their annual inspections Monday and Tuesday at Bay Street Armory.

Slated for inspection by Brig. E. D. Danby, B.C. area commander, are 4 Intelligence Training Company at 8 p.m. Monday; 5 Area Signal Squadron at 8:45 p.m. the same night, and No. 155 Company, RCASC, at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Ambulance Unit Asks Civic Aid

Victoria Branch of St. John Ambulance has asked city council for a grant in lieu of taxes on its headquarters building.

St. John Ambulance officials suggested in their request that since its services extend from Sidney to Jordan River, the request for a $5,000 grant should be studied by intermunicipal committee so all communities could share in the cost.

Car Wash Set

The 7th Fort Victoria Scout Troop will hold a car wash Saturday between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the Fairfield Shopping Plaza. Proceeds are for material to make tents.

Campus Sale Opposed

Members of the Saanich Social Credit constituency association last night unanimously passed a resolution that the government be "strongly recommended" not to sell the University of Victoria's Lansdowne Campus.

Earlier this week it was announced jointly by Bishop Renzi de Roo and development board chairman Harold Elworthy part of the campus was to become the site of a Roman Catholic junior-senior school for boys and girls.

MEETING APRIL 16

Mr. Elworthy said further details of plans for the rest of the 54-acre campus would be announced at a public meeting at 8 p.m. April 16 at Uplands Elementary School.

But last night Carl Bitterman, president of the Secord group, said the 50 or so people at the meeting decided they would like to see Lansdowne campus used for mental health research, in conjunction with the university program.

"There was also a suggestion it could be adapted for adult education facilities," he said.

Matti's ready-to-wear collection for spring '64 showed a pared-down silhouette, slim as an arrow and slightly shaped. The fabric story is British wool all the way... textured and tweedy for the most part, but light and versatile in brilliant spring color notes such as acid yellow, lilac, coral and emerald as well as elegant neutral tones. Three fashions from the spring collection are pictured here, from left, cream knop tweed suit; black and white speckle tweed coat and dress (coat is unlined making use of the contrasting double cloth); and cyclamen tweed suit with contrasting stitching on collar and pockets.

'Mods' Adapt Flapper Ways

BY MARISSA BROWN
United Press International
LONDON (UPI)—In the 1920s it was the flapper. In Britain of the 1960s it's the "mod" (for modern).

The mod blossoms from Limehouse to Liverpool and beyond. Like the flapper she tends to be flat-chested and hipless. But unlike the flapper who strove with her bobbed hair and beads to be chic, the mod favors the haphazard appearance. She uses little or no cosmetics. Her hair is apt to be long and unstyled.

For the flapper's "French" heels and daintily bare legs, the mod substitutes black or white stockings and high boots. Shapeless sweaters and straight skirts have replaced the shapeless shift of the flapper. There's no hat. The flapper wore a cloche.

Legend, fed by the stories of Scott Fitzgerald, has it the flapper cared for nothing but fun, speakeasy gin and dancing the Charleston.

If that's true, the mod is a different type of girl. She likes her fun, wiggles when she dances, sips a moderate gin and tonic and prefers that a beam have a motorcycle or fast car.

But the mods have a serious side, too. Without bothering to think whether or not they are equal to men, they expect to do the same jobs as men for the same money.

Many are casual about "romance." Take Cilla Black, 21, a pop singer from Liverpool, who sometimes is called "The Female Beatle." She went to the top of the English Hit Parade with her version of "Anyone Who Had a Heart."

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Call me Tom. I am a high school junior with big ideas and a small allowance. The girl I like best has an appetite like a horse. She can eat two of everything.

We have a real date either on Friday or Saturday night and I don't last any time at all. During the week when we walk home from school together she always wants to stop some place for a snack. I can't afford it. I like this girl a lot but she is eating herself out of my life.

like a hot coal and don't worry about having lost a friend. Because she wasn't one.

Dear Ann Landers: I wash clothes three times a week. Our four children range from 8 to 12 years of age. They all wear washable clothes and change daily. I'd prefer to have three small washes than one big one. My husband claims any woman who washes three times (unless she has babies in the house) either is trying to impress the neighbors with her cleanliness, or she is off her rocker.

I might tell you I wash three times a week in winter as well as summer, and I hang the wash in the basement where the neighbors can't see it. Please comment. —NUTS BUT CLEAN.

Dear Ann Landers: I have an old school chum I have known for over 25 years. Whenever we are with friends she manages to steer the conversation to things I said and did when we were teenagers—nearly 40 years ago.

Back in those days I had no idea she thought I was so empty-headed and silly. Now it seems every word I said was stupid and everything I did was hilarious. She never misses an opportunity to embarrass me with tales that make me out to have been the village idiot. She's been doing it for about 20 years and I'm sick of it.

Through the years this woman has had much trouble and sorrow. My husband and I have been at her side through all her tribulations. I can think of no reason for her to want to humiliate me.

I would like to put an end to it once and for all without losing her friendship. How? —OLD FRIEND OR FOE?

Dear Ann Landers: What's the matter with you—no vocal cords? Tell this woman precisely how you feel in language which will leave no room for doubt. If she persists in her routine drop her

Cacovic-Green

Bride Carries Roses

Kathleen Norma Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald E. Craigie, 913 Inverness Street, became the bride of Mr. Frank J. Cacovic, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cacovic, Yugoslavians, at a pretty early spring wedding in St. Mark's Anglican Church. Rev. Canon Robert Willis performed the double-ring ceremony. Given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Craigie, the bride wore a white tulle floor-length gown with lace appliques enhanced with pearls and sequins. Her veil of tulle net misted from a lace and pearl tiara. She carried a cascade of pink roses and white freesias.

Mrs. Brian Scroggs, as her sister's matron of honor, and Miss Mary Ann Green, bride's cousin, as bridesmaids, were gownned alike in pink tulle gowns styled with belted skirts. They carried pink and white roses and carnations.

Junior bridesmaid, Miss Robynn Craigie, sister of the bride, and flower girl little Darlene Scroggs, bride's niece, wore pale blue tulle frocks with lace jackets. They carried colonial bouquets of pink roses.

All the attendants wore pearl necklaces, gift of the bride. Mr. Josef Nagy was best man. Ushering were Mr. Dennis Green and Mr. Scroggs, bride's brother and brother-in-law.

Mr. Lew MacDonald proposed the toast to the bride at a reception held in the Hampton Hall. A three-tiered wedding cake, made and decorated by the bride's mother, centred the head table.

For her going-away outfit the new Mrs. Cacovic chose a pink knit wool suit with matching hat and black patent accessories. Her corsage was pink and white roses.

The newly-weds are now making their home at 821 Queens Avenue following a honeymoon on the B.C. mainland.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. Warren, Mrs. J. Cummings, Miss Marilyn Cummings, Vancouver; Mrs. C. Lee, La Conner, Wash.; Mr. and B. Hegglund, Crofton; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Green, Chemainus; Mr. and Mrs. J. Kedmenc, Yukon.

This seafood mold makes a substantial and delicious main dish. Combined with the seafood are grated cheese, hard-cooked eggs and chopped vegetables. These are flavor-laced with a white dinner wine.

As Base

Gelatine Cookery Versatile

Gelatine cookery is versatile and simple. And dishes made with a gelatine base range from entrees to desserts.

If package or recipe directions are followed exactly, the gelatine dish is sure to come out satisfactorily.

Gelatine setting can be hastened by using one cup cracked ice and water for the cold water called for in the directions. Place in freezing compartment for 15 minutes, then finish setting in refrigerator. Do not freeze.

To whip: Prepare gelatine, chill until thickened to egg-white consistency. Set bowl in larger one containing cracked ice. Whip until light and fluffy. Leave until thickened (about five minutes). Fill dishes or molds, chill until firm.

To keep pieces of fruit or vegetables in place for molding, first arrange pieces in bottom of mold and hold in place with one-fourth inch of gelatine; chill until set. Fill mold with gelatine mixture, plain or fruited. Chill until firm.

Another method is to chill prepared gelatine until thickened, but not set. Add up to two cups well-drained fruits or vegetables per package of gelatine. Always use cooked pineapple, never fresh.

To unmold, loosen edges of dessert with small pointed knife or fingers. Dip outside of mold briefly in warm water, remove, and shake gently. Invert plate on top of mold and holding them firmly together, turn over. Shake gently, then lift off mold.

CREAMY SMOOTH MARBLED CURTAIN

Three envelopes unflavored gelatine; 1 cup sugar; 1/2 tsp. salt; 8 cups milk; 4 eggs, separated; 1 1/2 tsp. vanilla; 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted; 1 tsp. almond extract.

Combine gelatin, sugar and salt. Add milk gradually. Blend well. Heat over low temperature, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Beat egg yolks. Stir in a little of the milk mixture. Add egg mixture to the remaining milk, stirring quickly. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Divide mixture in half. To one half, add vanilla. To other half, add melted chocolate and almond extract. Chill mixtures until syrupy. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold half into each mixture. Swirl mixtures together with a large spoon and pour into a moistened 9x5x3-inch pan. Chill until set. If desired, garnish with whipped cream and pecan halves.

A seafood mold accented with mayonnaise, whipped cream and wine can be given a glamorous touch by molding in the shape of a fish.

FRANCISCAN SEAFOOD MOLD

One (3-oz.) pkg. lemon-flavored gelatin; 1/2 cup boiling water; 1/4 cup Chablis or dry Sauterne; 1/2 tsp. salt; 1 tsp. grated onion; 1/2 cup whipping cream; 1/2 cup mayonnaise; 1 cup grated sharp American cheese; 3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped; 1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper; 1/2 cup finely chopped celery; 1 cup cooked shrimp, crab or tuna.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Stir in wine, salt and onion. Cool until mixture thickens. Whip cream until stiff; fold into thickened gelatin along with mayonnaise. Fold in cheese and remaining ingredients. Turn into a lightly oiled 1 1/2-pint mold, individual molds or eight-inch square pan. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with lemon slices.

Cheese Is Tempting

By EASEL FITZGERSON

When it comes to cheese, the French believe that you can never have too much of a good thing — they produce approximately 400 varieties of cheese, and they love each and every one of them.

No French menu is complete without a cheese tray for dessert, and traditionally the selection should have three to six different cheeses ranging from mild to very sharp in flavor, and soft, semi-soft or hard as to type. Wine and fresh fruit are used as accompaniments.

TEA APRIL 11

The WA of Elk Lake Baptist Church will hold a spring tea Saturday, April 11, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the new church hall. There will also be home baking for sale and a garden stall.

Some of the best known French cheeses are Brie, Camembert, Port Salut, Roquefort, but there are many others imported nowadays.

Not only are some of these cheeses useful as dessert, but some of them lend themselves to cooking and here are one or two tempting recipes:

COCKTAIL MEATBALLS WITH ROQUEFORT CHEESE

1 lb. ground round steak, 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs, 1/2 cup crumbled Roquefort cheese, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 1 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. black pepper, 1 egg, beaten lightly, 3 tbsp. milk.

Combine all ingredients thoroughly. Shape into small meat balls and brown well on all sides in a heavy skillet using cooking oil or shortening. Drain well on paper towel and serve on toothpicks.

While we are on the subject of Roquefort cheese, here is a recipe for Roquefort Cheese Dressing:

Half cup mayonnaise, 1/2 cup crumbled Roquefort cheese, 2 tablespoons wine vinegar, 1 tablespoon light cream, 1/4 teaspoon salt.

Combine all the ingredients in a mixing bowl and beat until smooth.

One final recipe uses Brie and may be served hot or cold.

BRIE BRILLIANT

1/2 lb. Brie, 1/4 cup Sour Cream, 10 black olives, 1 tablespoon chopped chives.

The cheese must be at room temperature. Blend the cheese with the sour cream, pit the olives and chop them very finely and add to the cheese and sour cream. Add the chives. Spread on toast or crackers. To serve hot, spread the mixture on toast fingers and broil for 2 to 3 minutes until the cheese is bubbly.

These recipes are useful, but I still think that a good ripe Brie served with a superb pear or a well-polished Macintosh apple is a dessert to dream about.

Bon appetit!

Fudge Pudding Best When Warm

Here's an exceptionally easy recipe for a baked dessert. It's so simple in fact, that it's an excellent one for the very young, inexperienced junior cook to try.

A rather stiff, cocoa-and-spice batter is topped with a mixture of white and brown sugars, then water. These bake right through the batter so that the finished product has a tender, slightly "chewy" cake on top, with a very thick, rich chocolate sauce underneath. The idea is an old standard, but this version is quite new; the spices give an intriguing, indefinable added flavor lift to the predominating chocolate taste.

This is a good family dessert, at its best served warm. Some might think it's gliding the lily, but others will like Spicy Fudge Pudding with whipped cream or ice cream.

SPICY FUDGE PUDDING

(Yield: six to nine servings.)

One cup once-sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 cup granulated sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons cocoa, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon powdered cocoa, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons melted margarine or butter, 1/2 cup firmly-packed brown sugar, 1/2 cup granulated sugar, 4 tablespoons cocoa, 1 cup cold water.

Preheat oven to 325° F. (moderately slow). Grease an 8-inch square baking pan. If using glass ovenware, use a slow oven of 300° F.

Into a medium mixing bowl, sift flour, baking powder, three-quarters cup granulated sugar, salt, two tablespoons cocoa and spices. Combine milk, vanilla and melted margarine or butter; add to dry ingredients, stirring just until smooth. Spread over bottom of prepared pan.

Combine remaining sugars and cocoa. Sprinkle over batter. Pour water on top. Do not stir.

Bake in preheated oven about 40 minutes, or until top is just firm to a light touch. Remove to cooling rack. Serve warm or cool, but not chilled.

To serve, cut into six or eight pieces; lift out "cake" part with serving spoon, invert onto serving plates and top with "sauce" which has formed in bottom of baking pan.

Talents Wasted

VANCOUVER (CP)—North American women waste their talents and efforts joining women's clubs, says Mrs. Keshmiri Zadeh, 43, who owns and edits a newspaper in her native Iran.

"Women in this part of the world are very active," she said during a visit here. "They belong to many clubs, societies and organizations, but these are useless—they don't have any worthwhile programs."

At one club she visited during her stay, she heard "one woman get up and say she was pleased because her husband peeled the potatoes before she got home. I don't think that is very important."

When her husband died 16 years ago, Mrs. Zadeh took over his job as owner and editor of the Nedaye Iran in Shiraz, a city in southern Iran.

North American women should take a greater interest in being housewives and mothers, as well as a larger interest in their own country, she said.

"Canada, which claims equality of the sexes, has only a few women parliamentarians. In my country, we have five women in parliament, and women only received the vote a year ago."

During her stay, she lived with a three-car family of three.

"This kind of society doesn't improve the world; it doesn't help do away with poverty. It just creates jealousy from those without as much."

"There's nothing wrong in earning the almighty dollar—it's how you spend it that counts."

Door carries half the load—Linen storage limited? Then consider this easy-to-use closet. Linens, bedding and towels are stored in single file, all within easy reach. No more front-line knock-overs as in deep closets. Wall shelves are only 12 inches deep, door shelves are only nine inches. The entire unit is eight feet tall, has storage compartments at the top, drawers below. —(Better Homes and Gardens)

Does She Want More? K Says That's Right

KAZINBARCIKA, Hungary (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev said here one should never underestimate the desire of women for more and more clothes.

Attacking the Chinese Communist stress on the need for violent revolution, Khrushchev said the economic system that provides man with the most material goods will win.

Khrushchev said the housewife who goes to the shop always wants to buy more.

"If she has one dress, she will want two. And if she is fashion-conscious, she will want more. And this is as it should be."

Ladysmith Wedding

SALTAR — Pink gladiolus decorated the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah Witnesses in Ladysmith for the wedding of Beverly Jean Ellis, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Ellis, Saltair, and Cyril Lloyd David, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex David, Victoria.

Mr. C. Roberts of Victoria officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the fair-haired bride was radiant in a full-length gown of white nylon chiffon over taffeta. Flowers of the same material caught up the full skirt in a pout in back and seed pearls enhanced the bodice styled with long lily point sleeves. A single white rose with pearls arranged in a star held the short veil. She wore pearl earrings and necklace, gift from the groom, and carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

Miss Ramona Radonske, Victoria, bridesmaid was in a white organza over taffeta dress. Her short veil was held by a rose and her corsage of pink carnations. Flower girl, little Deborah Ellis, youngest sister of the bride wore a frock of white organza over taffeta and a flowered bandeau in her hair. She carried a pink colonial bouquet of roses and carnations.

Mr. Dennis David, brother of the groom, was the best man. Mr. Ross Hargreaves and Mr. Ralph Fair were ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Legion Hall in Ladysmith.

Out of town visitors included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. P. Snider, Mrs. M. D. Fisher and Mr. and Mrs. E. Clapham, all of Metehosin. Mr. and Mrs. Fred David, Vancouver, Mr. Ron Hocaluk and Mr. Richard Slanoff, North Surrey.

The new Mrs. David changed to a Niagara blue Italian knit suit with pink and black accessories for a trip up-island before travelling to Quesnel where they will make their home.

U.S. to Study Giant Scheme

WASHINGTON (CP) — A plan to divert water from the Pacific Ocean to the Great Lakes and boost Niagara Falls power by 50 per cent is to be studied by a new U.S. Senate subcommittee seeking ways of diverting more North American water to the parched areas of the southwestern United States.

An equivalent $100,000,000 also would be spent on facilities to put the new water supplies to use—creating a vast new capital market for more than $200,000,000,000 in manpower and supplies.

Devised by Ralph M. Parsons Company, a Los Angeles engineering firm, the proposal envisages the collection of surplus water from the Yukon, Peace, Columbia, Fraser and Athabasca rivers and redistributing them to the parched areas through a system of reservoirs, canals, tunnels and rivers. One huge Rocky Mountain trench would be 500 miles long.

The scheme, first unveiled at a Los Angeles press conference March 17 by the Parsons company, was described at that time by Provincial Water Resources Minister Ray Williston as "in the realm of pure fantasy."

The estimated costs, described by the firm as "very preliminary," would include digging a new ship waterway to connect Vancouver to the Great Lakes at Duluth on Lake Superior, reducing the need for many Canadian ships to use the Panama Canal. The increased water flow through the lakes would boost Niagara power by 50 per cent.

TRENCHES, CHANNELS
More trenches, channels and reservoirs would take water down from the northern areas to the U.S. and Mexico, helping all three countries meet water, power and irrigation needs.

"This huge project is not beyond the realm of possibility," said Moss, who maintained that the engineering firm held preliminary talks with unidentified Canadians on the Prairies and West Coast and found them "highly interested" in the diversion plan.

Juliana In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, Prince Bernhard and Princess Beatrix arrived Wednesday on a social visit to Mexico that was expected to strengthen ties between the two countries.

The decision of Princess Beatrix not to make the trip at the last minute did not dampen the warmth of the Mexican welcome to the Dutch royal family.

PRESIDENT ON HAND
President Adolfo Lopez Mateos and his wife were on hand to greet their guests, as well as members of his cabinet and the foreign diplomatic corps.

Lopez Mateos' personal plane brought the royal family here from Houston, Tex. Prince Bernhard piloted it part of the way.

21-GUN SALUTE
A 21-gun salute boomed as the plane landed. The national anthems of both countries were played. The airport was festooned with the national colors of Mexico and the Netherlands.

Lopez Mateos in brief welcoming remarks said Mexico has strong feelings of sympathy and friendship for Holland, one of the first nations to extend diplomatic recognition to Mexico when it won independence.

JULIANA APPLAUDED
Juliana was applauded when she responded in Spanish.

Lopez Mateos said he was confident the royal visit would renew and strengthen the ties between the two countries.

Little League Ball Park Hit By Toilet-Wrecking Vandals

In the second instance of public lavatory vandalism to be discovered in the Victoria area in two days, Victoria police yesterday learned of destruction in lavatories at a city ball park.

Victoria police said both men's and women's lavatories at the Little League Ball Park had been broken into. Bowls and seats were broken, signs ripped from the walls, and obscenities scrawled among other damage, police said.

The damage was discovered around midday yesterday. Meanwhile, Saanich police said yesterday that parents of three youngsters who smashed washroom facilities at Prospect Lake Park are going to have to pay for the damage.

Damage done by the children, aged eight, six and six, is estimated at $240. They smashed three toilet bowls, covered the walls with mud and scattered toilet paper. The destruction was discovered Tuesday but is believed to have been done during the weekend.

There will be no police action against the children but the parents have agreed to make good the damage.

Invaders Kill Ox

PHNOM PENH (AP)—Cambodia charges about 60 Vietnamese troops violated Cambodian territory and fired on a village. Two houses were set afire and an ox was killed.

Arrives Here Monday

Salvation Army Official To Visit Penal Units

Lt. Col. J. Clinton Eacott of the Salvation Army, former president of the Canadian Correctional Chaplains Association, will visit penal institutions in the Victoria area.

Accompanying him on his visit to Victoria Monday will be Brigadier Roger Thierstein, correctional services officer stationed in Victoria.

Col. Eacott was commissioned as a Salvation Army officer in 1919 and was appointed to missionary service at Peking,

China, where he served as regional officer.

He was transferred to west China in 1941 during the Sino-Japanese War to commence work in Chungking but due to Communist pressure he moved with territorial headquarters to Shanghai, then to Seoul, returning to Canada in 1949 after 27 years of service in China and Korea.

He was chaplain of the Guelph Reformatory for seven years, then was appointed director of correctional headquarters in Toronto in 1959.

Three More Girls Enter Miss Victoria Pageant

Another three girls have entered the line-up for the Jaycees' Miss Victoria Pageant—but the Jaycees want another six girls to enter before their Saturday deadline.

So far 14 girls have come forward to enter the contest. The Jaycees are hoping for at least 20 entries.

Latest entries are Dorothy Leard, 22, of 1030 St. Charles Street, Joanne R. Leeming, 18, of 1337 Bond Street and Norma Redfern, 22, of 720 University Street.

Dorothy, a member of Victoria Girls' Drill team, works for Ocean Cement Ltd. Joanne is employed by the B.C. Telephone Company and Norma, for the Bank of Nova Scotia, Shellbourne Plaza.

Girls who still want to enter, can pick up forms from the Jaycees' office at 1217 Douglas or call Terry Farmer, 386-5121.

Monday all entrants will be given a hair-styling demonstration; Wednesday they will meet contest judges informally at a coffee party at the Empress Hotel; then, April 17, they will be pre-judged at 8 p.m. in the Duke of Kent Room at the Empress.

Police Can't Link Man To $56,000 Robbery

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police said Wednesday they have been unable to link a man held by Toronto police with the $56,000 robbery of a National Employment Service office here March 26.

The man was arrested in Toronto as he stepped off a plane from Vancouver. He is being held on a charge of possession of burglary tools. City Det. Sgt. Bill Porteous flew to Toronto to question the suspect.

Quake Data Given

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has provided the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey with a detailed picture of the after-shocks of the earthquake that rocked Alaska Good Friday.

The information was obtained at five Canadian seismograph stations operated by the Dominion Observatory—at Alert on the north coast of Ellesmere Island, Frobisher on Baffin Island, Mould Bay on Prince Patrick Island, Resolute on Cornwallis Island and Coppermine on Coronation Gulf in the Northwest Territories.

AFTER-SHOCKS STRONG
Dr. J. H. Hodgson, chief of the observatory's seismology division, said Wednesday in an interview that some of the after-shocks were almost as strong as the Alaska earthquake.

The Alaska quake had a shock force of 8.5. Dr. Hodgson said that some of the after-shocks recorded at the five seismograph stations in the Canadian Arctic had forces ranging up to 6 and 7.5.

342 RECORDED
"Our station at Mould Bay recorded 342 shocks in the period from March 27, the day of the quake, until April 5," he said.

Dr. Hodgson said not all of the shocks were from the Alaska quake.

Garden Notes

They Like Shade

By M. V. CEDENUT, FRANK

Most of us have in our gardens certain sections which receive very little sun, either shaded by trees or on the north side of the house or garage. It is always something of a problem to know what to plant in such sunless spots; there is very little in the way of annual bedding plants which will perform creditably in sunless locations, but fortunately there are quite a few woodland perennials which are quite at home in shade as long as it is not too dense and gloomy.

Hosta, the plantain lily, is a plant well suited to such locations. Its main charm is its foliage, very broad pointed leaves with parallel veins, some cool green in color, others variegated and some attractively ribbed and veined.

Hosta sieboldiana has grey-green foliage, growing to 18 inches tall, with spikes of pale blue flowers. H. fortunei marginata-alba has leaves edged in white, while H. undulata variegata has leaves variegated and mottled in silver, 2 1/2 feet tall, also with pale blue flowers. White-flowered forms are available too. In looking for this plant in your nursery catalogue, you may find it listed under the name Funkia. I never did find out whether hosta or funkia is correct.

Dicentra spectabilis, the bleeding heart, is a grand old-fashioned plant for shaded locations. Graceful and attractive with its fernlike foliage, it grows to a height of about two feet, throwing up sprays of arching stems from which dangle red and white heart-shaped flowers like tiny lockets.

If it has any fault, it is its rather brief period of bloom—usually two to three weeks in May. There is a new strain, however, known as a dicentra bountiful, which blooms twice a year, returning after a short rest to put on another display in late summer.

Anemone japonica is another grand plant for a shaded location, standing some three feet tall and blooming in late summer. The variety Louis Uhlir is a beautiful pure white, the chaste single flowers with their golden stamens contrasting beautifully with the dark green foliage. Montrose is a good pink and Rubra is a very deep, dusky pink, almost a red and not quite as tall as the others.

Anemones should not be grown near cherry or plum trees as there is a rust disease which attacks both the trees and the anemones, but only when both hosts are present. In other words, the rust must spend a portion of its life cycle on an anemone before it can infect a cherry or plum tree, and vice versa.

All these shade-lovers must be purchased as roots and propagated by root division, but there is one woodland plant, the aquilegia or columbine, which can be raised from seeds almost as easily as annuals. They need a lot more light than the others and are best grown in dappled or partial shade. Mrs. Scott Elliott's strain is very widely grown and gives a wide range of colors, but I think about the finest of the columbines are the McKana long-spurred hybrids, with colors ranging through yellow, salmon, pink, crimson and pastel shades, and with spurs up to four inches long.

Censor Conceals Carroll

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Carroll Baker's nude scenes in The Carpetbaggers were all snipped by the censors. To soothe the sure-to-be-disappointed male members of the premiere audience, Carroll will wear a transparent Balenciaga gown, with diamonds tossed in here and there, mostly there. Carroll is flying in from Europe especially for the big show, hosted by producer Joe Levine in Denver tonight. Carroll is unhappy over the cutting of her scenes, but actually, unless a woman has the skin of a peach, it is better not to show too much in color and cinematograph.

Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton will be the piece de resistance at the Shakespeare-in-the-park fund-raising supper at the Plaza on the 11th. Tickets are $500 a couple and at those prices you wonder who can afford it. Apparently two hundred couples can.

Stephen Boyd has finally persuaded his parents to leave their home in Ireland and to live with him in sunny California. May they never regret it.

The extras used in the screaming sections for The Beast's first movie, were "children" between the ages of 12 and 14. I would have pegged the real thing a bit older, from 13 to 16. Three hundred and fifty lucky youngsters were actually paid to scream for their heroes.

Maureen O'Sullivan was 15 when she started her movie career as Tarzan Johnny Weissmuller's Jane. Her daughter Mia, is a year older. She is receiving a lot of press attention in London where she has taken over the role recently vacated by Britt Ekland. Mia is blonde like her late father, Johnny Farrow, but her looks are pure Maureen.

Angela Lansbury is the show stopper in Anyone Can Whistle. All those crazy dance numbers had the first night audience howling. Lee Remick is pretty good too. What makes these Hollywood stars leave the comfort of Beverly Hills for the rigors of Broadway? I guess it's to hear real live applause. Only a year ago or less, Angela who was so good on stage in A Taste of Honey told me she would never do another stage play because it took her away from her family.

Mrs. Donald Cook, widow of the late actor, is opening an expensive restaurant in New York, and calling it The Leopard, after her great great Sicilian ancestor, was portrayed by Burt Lancaster in The Leopard.

I finally caught From Russia With Love and it is one of the funniest murder stories I have ever seen. I was in stitches most of the time. This is the kind of suspense I enjoy. Where you can laugh and not be frightened. Although I'm not sure that author Ian Fleming intended James Bond to be laughed at. But who cares as long as it comes out entertainment.

Richard Harris is asking for heaven, earth and some fringe benefits to play the part of Cain in the Dino de Lauretis production of The Bible and he will surely get what he wants. When he was comparatively unknown, Mr. Harris asked for and received co-star billing with Marlon Brando in Mutiny On The Bounty. I like a man who knows what he wants—and gets it.

Inspiration Beats Perspiration

Says DR. STUART ROSENBERG

"Genius," a genius once explained, "is 90 per cent perspiration, 10 per cent inspiration." Without inspiration, however, we only sweat out our lives.

Many of us are dogged, hard workers, pursuing tasks with zeal and devotion. That is important. But only technically important. Many books are technically good.

They are flawlessly written, carefully planned. But they lack the spark, the flash of insight. On the surface they are neatly arranged. But they never reach beneath the surface.

There are musicians and painters who may be master craftsmen. But again only in a technical sense. An inspired artist can move you to tears or to laughter.

He can raise your hopes or make you feel the pain, the misery, the joy and the gladness of life. He can do this, only because he has felt, known and understood these things in an intimate flash of insight which goes by the name of inspiration. Perspiration alone won't do these things.

An inspired person is one who has drawn within himself the breath of life. He has a spirit that moves him. He has a vision, a horizon he's trying to touch and reach. He can therefore move you beyond yourself, to be more than yourself.

A technician, on the other hand, is too much head and not enough heart. He may know all the rules and tools of his trade and yet never get to the heart of the matter.

B.C. Man Modest Millionaire

VANCOUVER — Modest millionaires Mr. and Mrs. W. J. VanDusen last year gave 93 per cent of the $1,720,000 received by the Vancouver Foundation, which Mr. VanDusen helped form 20 years ago and now heads.

But he didn't mention his $1,600,000 gift in the annual report released yesterday. Executive director G. P. Kay did, saying the MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River official "doesn't like to draw attention to his deeds."

The foundation has assets of $6,800,000 and helps charity, research and charitable organizations.

MOSCOW — Yuri Gagarin, the world's first spaceman, has been given a desk job. The official military newspaper Red Star said Gagarin will head its newly created "cosmonauts desk," aided by Andrian Nikolayev, Pavel Popovich and Valery Bykovsky.

BRASILIA — The Brazilian congress will elect a president and vice-president Friday following the ouster of President Goulart. The majority Social Democratic party is backing army chief Humberto Castelo Branco.

NEW DELHI — India's government freed Sheikh Mohammed Abdullah, Moslem leader of the Kashmir state independence movement, after 11 years in prison. The trial didn't begin until two years ago and dragged on until the charges finally were dropped.

HOLLYWOOD — Doctors said actor Peter Sellers, 38, shows "further improvement" after his heart attack, adding "he is awake and alert and has been conversing with his wife." He won't be able to work for months.

Mentally Ill

Nazi Bosses Saved Kin From Death

LIMBURG, Germany (UPI)—Hermann Goering and other top Nazis saved their mentally ill kin from Adolf Hitler's mass "mercy killing" drive, according to war crimes trial evidence made public Wednesday.

The Nazi doctors who ran the drive reportedly complained this "perverted and ruined" the whole thing.

The evidence came in the trial of Dr. Hans Hefelmann, 58, accused of directing 73,000 "mercy killings" of mentally and physically handicapped Germans.

PROTESTED TO HITLER — Prosecutors read into evidence a 1947 statement by Dr. Werner Heyde, the "mercy killing" chief who committed suicide earlier this year rather than face trial along with Hefelmann.

Heyde said Goering, Hitler's chosen heir and boss of Germany's air force and economy, had a "mentally ill" relative in the Bethel Home, one of Germany's major insane asylums. Nazi doctors marked the relative for death along with 200,000 persons who died in Hitler's program to "purify" the so-called master race.

PROTESTED TO HITLER — But "out of personal respect for the Reichsmarshal (Goering)," the relative was spared, Heyde said. The Nazi doctor said he and fellow workers protested directly to Hitler.

Hitler rebuffed them. Other top Nazis then rescued their handicapped relatives from the "mercy killing" program.

Heyde complained this ruined the program and made all the "mercy deaths" "murder."

WEST BROMWICH, England — Welshman Charles Cooper, 49, has offered $2,000,000 to buy the outstanding common stock of the J. B. Arguklees Ltd., a steel firm. He started working for the firm as a laboratory boy 31 years ago for $1.05 a week.

VANCOUVER — County Court Judge Michelangelo Provenzano ruled people found guilty of impaired driving cannot be interdicted, refused permission to buy liquor. He upheld the appeal of Joseph Bonifard against an interdict judgment in West Vancouver.

NASHVILLE — Longshore union Henry Bell was convicted of attempting to fix a jury in a James Hoffa case. Sentence was deferred.

VANCOUVER — Magistrate Bernard Isman says he is through babying waterfront cargo pilferers and will forget about minimum fines, which don't seem to work. He fined part-time longshoremen Frederick Morris and Ronald Edward $108 each, double the minimum.

BREMERTON — Doctors confirmed Joe Mayerle, 42, who had lung cancer in 1959, doesn't have it now. In the intervening five years, he has had no treatment and has continued to smoke.

ACCRA — Ghana's high court sentenced former policeman Seth Ametewee to death in connection with a gun attack against President Nkrumah.

LOS ANGELES — Former showgirl Marsha Corral, 26, accepted a $42,500 settlement of a damage suit she filed after a swing in a nightclub broke and she fell on patrons below. She has since become a legal secretary.

VANCOUVER — Dr. Malcolm Murray MacIntyre, UBC professor of law and known in the profession throughout Canada, died at 59 from cancer and heart trouble.

KELOWNA — Edward Merickie, 35, of Saskatoon, was jailed two years on charges of thefts from churches. His loot included a jar of preserves, a suit coat, sacramental wine and about $35.

VANCOUVER — The B.C. Supreme Court postponed the gallows date for David McMurtry to May 26 from April, pending an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada. He was sentenced for the 1962 axe slaying of Sally Bob in Lillooet.

SPOKANE — Two thieves in a train depot stole the uninsured $10,000 Stradivarius violin of John Holte, 83, of Larson, N.D., who began playing it 70 years ago.

MIAMI — Jewelry valued at $100,000 was stolen from the apartment of tobacco heir Richard Reynolds, but the thief overlooked a $125,000 bracelet tucked away in a lingerie drawer. Only $15,000 of the jewelry was insured because "insurance is too expensive."

ORILLIA, Ont. — Harry Boyle of Toronto, broadcaster and newspaper columnist, has been awarded the Stephen Leacock memorial award for humor, for his book Homebrew and Patches, dealing with a farm boy during the depression.

TOKYO — Red China called on the three quarrelling factions in Laos to unite behind their neutralist premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma. The call came in a joint communique issued at the conclusion of Souvanna's visit to Peking.

ATHENS — Greek Premier Papandreu has personally written Turkish Premier Inönü regarding recent Turkish measures against Greeks in Istanbul.

This Chariot Crosses 'Rubicon' in Truck

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Roman-style chariot complete with cantering horses and bodied driver clomped down Granville Street here Wednesday.

The ride, a stunt to publicize first showing of a movie about the Roman Empire, was halted at the "Rubicon"—the Oak Street bridge—before it could enter the city from suburban Richmond.

No horses, said bridge authorities.

Promoters loaded the chariot, horses and all, in a van and trucked it across the bridge.

The triumphal ride resumed on the other side, stalling traffic along parts of the six-mile route.

Clothing Arrives
Clothing is unloaded from HMCS Fraser at Hong Kong.

At Hong Kong

Navy Delivers Gift

Two tons of children's clothing—the gift of Greater Victoria citizens—has been unloaded in Hong Kong from the Esquimalt-based navy ship HMCS Fraser and Mackenzie.

Collected for the Save the Children Fund by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, the clothing was first loaded aboard HMCS St. Laurent, one of three destroyer-escorts to leave Jan. 7 for a four-month cruise to the Far East.

The shipment was unloaded at Singapore in February and the destroyers joined other Commonwealth ships in the Indian Ocean for maneuvers.

circling voyage to Halifax while Fraser and Mackenzie returned to Singapore and picked up the clothing.

In Hong Kong it was received by Benjamin Wong, junior chamber president, and J. B. Atkinson, secretary of the Hong Kong council of social services, for distribution to various welfare agencies.

Capt. G. H. Hayes, commander of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron, was thanked on behalf of Greater Victoria citizens.

Arrangements to transport the clothing to Hong Kong were made by Lt.-Cmdr. John Watson, HMCS Fraser's executive officer, working with Mrs. W. W. McGill, head of the Save the Children Fund in Victoria.

Capsule Orbits Earth

By HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPT. KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—An unmanned project Gemini capsule was propelled into orbit by a Titan II rocket Wednesday and the United States got a flying start toward a goal of launching two astronauts into space in a similar craft late this year.

Analysis of data on Wednesday's flight and a second unmanned firing scheduled in the summer will determine whether the manned mission will be achieved in November or December as planned.

The powerful Titan II, making its debut as a space booster, lifted off at 11 a.m. after a perfect countdown and hoisted the 7,000-pound space craft into an orbital path ranging from 99.6 to 204 miles high.

"We've got an orbit... It's a beaut," said Operations Director Walter C. Williams six minutes after blastoff.

HIGHER THAN DESIRED

Williams told a press conference later the high point was 21 miles higher than desired because of faster-than-planned booster speed. But he said that on a manned mission, the astronauts easily could correct this with their on-board fuel supply.

Williams, who directed six astronaut flights in Project Mercury, bowed out of the U.S. manned space program with the launching. He is moving to a job with private industry.

STORYBOOK FLIGHT

Maj.-Gen. Ben I. Funk, commander of the U.S. Air Force space systems division, called the launching a "storybook sort of flight" and praised the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, air force and industry team that accomplished it.

Because officials sought only engineering data, no attempt was made to separate the space craft from the spent rocket casing.

The entire assembly weighing 11,500 pounds, rocketed into orbit and was followed by the space agency's world-wide tracking network for little more than one orbit before its electrical power and radio beacon ceased as intended.

The satellite was expected to circle the earth silently for about 3½ days before burning up as a result of atmospheric friction. It is the second-heaviest satellite launched by the U.S., behind the world record 37,700-pound giant boosted by a Saturn rocket in January.

The Saturn satellite also was mostly dead weight, but both are considered significant steps toward a U.S. goal of landing astronauts on the moon in this decade.

Recovery

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Benjamin Burch, 48-year-old machinist whose heart stopped beating for 90 minutes on the operating table last month, has left hospital for home.

Wife Takes on Show For Fatigued Braden

LONDON (CP)—Canadian actor Bernard Braden, suffering "tremendous fatigue," has been ordered to rest and his wife, Barbara Kelly, is going to take over his one-man weekly television show next Saturday night.

Braden, 47, started the show, On the Braden Beat, in 1962 and more recently he and his wife, both of Vancouver, starred in the stage play, Spoon River, a demanding task that required them each to play 20 different characters. It closed March 14 after only a month's run.

Braden left Friday night for a vacation in the south of France after getting permission for his wife to replace him in Saturday's show, a 20-minute program devoted to comment on topical subjects.

Aside from preparing for the program, Miss Kelly has her hands full at home. Kim, 15, is there recovering from an appendicitis operation, her other daughter, Kelly, 19, is in hospital, and son Chris, 21, is home from university on vacation.

Venus in Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI)—The Venus de Milo went on display Wednesday for the first time in a foreign country since the French found it in 1820. Visiting French Premier Georges Pompidou attended the opening ceremony for the ancient Greek statue's 76-day exhibition here.

Satellite Talks Progress

LONDON (Reuters)—Delegates of Canada, the U.S. and 27 West European countries have made some progress in private talks here on an initial world-wide system of telecommunications by means of artificial satellites, an authoritative source said Wednesday.

The delegates concluded a three-day private meeting Wednesday and the source said that a further joint conference would be held at a time and place to be announced later.

MEETINGS NET

Meanwhile, officials and experts are due to hold a series of technical meetings starting at Montreal toward the end of this month.

The 19-nation conference has been discussing a planned $200,000,000 network which would begin with a synchronous satellite to be launched in a year's time to a point about 22,000 miles above the Atlantic.

Full B.C. Meat Inspection?

The B.C. Consumers' Association may present briefs to the provincial government calling for full meat inspection throughout B.C. and tighter control on the use of pesticides and insecticides.

Some 35 delegates from Vancouver Island and the Lower Mainland attended yesterday's opening session of the two-day annual meeting being held in the Douglas room at the Hudson's Bay Company here.

DRUG PRICES VARY

They approved a recommendation from the Vancouver group which would focus more attention on a wide variation of prices which they feel exists for drugs and prescriptions.

Mrs. Sarah Schafer, past president of the Vancouver branch, said a member of the Vancouver group found the price of one particular prescription was priced at $17, $11, $7 and $3.15 at various drug stores in Vancouver.

BRIEF EXPECTED

Mrs. Peter Coombs, president of the Victoria branch, is expected to bring in a resolution asking for a brief on pesticides and insecticides to be presented to the government.

A recommendation for a brief to be sent to the government on the question of full meat inspection throughout B.C. probably will come from Miss Olga Boss, 3308 Quadra.

Mr. A. B. Young of Victoria was re-elected president of the association. Mrs. Coombs was named first vice-president, Mrs. R. F. Jeane of Victoria was named secretary and Mrs. Ruth King of Vancouver was re-elected treasurer.

Highlight of today's session will be a speech by L. D. Fraser, vice-president of Imperial Oil Company, during a luncheon meeting at the Dominion Hotel, at 12:30 p.m.

Delegates will be received by Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George Pearkes at a tea at Government House at 3:30 p.m.

WATCHDOGS

Mrs. Young described the Consumers' Association of Canada as "the watchdogs of the nation," with a national membership of 20,000, including some 1,200 members in B.C.

It is "the only recognized voice of consumers" or the general buying public, and is responsible for the consumers' education, representation and protection, she said.

Mrs. Young said the only property gazetted meat inspection areas in B.C. include seven abattoirs in the Fraser Valley and one on Vancouver Island.

TIME TO ACT

"Statistics show the absolute necessity for over-all inspection. It is now time to press for legislation."

"We hope this meeting will deem it advisable to pass a motion asking for provincial regulations equal to federal regulations for meat inspection," said the provincial president.

Simply Not Done

BRIGGATE, England (UPI)

—Women shoppers saw a naked Indian salesman twice in the direction of the sun and ran off, with police in pursuit.

Police caught him and took him to a hospital. A man who witnessed the episode said politely, "We don't do this sort of thing in England."

Customs Union?

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)

—Agreements on a customs union between Australia and New Zealand might be reached late this year, Prime Minister Holyoake of New Zealand says.

Three Airliners Off Runways In Fog at New York Airports

NEW YORK (UPI)

Three commercial airliners, two of them carrying passengers and the other only the crew, skidded off runways at New York's two major airports Tuesday night and Wednesday in dense fog.

37 INJURED

Two of the planes were giant Boeing 707 jets.

One was a Pan American Airways plane inbound from Puerto Rico, which overran a Kennedy airport runway Tuesday night with 145 persons aboard. At least 37 persons were injured, 127 of them hospitalized.

Israel Airlines plane which carried only a crew of five when it left a Kennedy airport runway Wednesday.

NONE HURT

None was injured in this crash.

In the other Wednesday mishap, an American Airlines jet-prop Electra inbound from Buffalo with 73 passengers and a crew of five bumped to a stop on a strip of construction gravel at La Guardia airport.

None on the plane was hurt, but Herbert W. Brown, 48, of East Roslyn, N.Y., a construction worker at La Guardia, was struck in the face by a stone loosed into the air by the airliner's wheels. He was removed to a hospital.

UBC Faculty Wins Increase

VANCOUVER (CP)—The University of B.C. has granted its faculty a wage increase.

The amounts will not be announced until faculty members and their association have been informed. The association, representing 750 teachers, asked for a $1,000-a-year increase.

Retired Aviation Man Dies

QUALICUM BEACH (CP)—H. Oliver West, 64, executive vice-president of the Boeing Co. from 1941-46, and president of Canadian Lbl., Montreal, from 1947-51, died at his home here Tuesday after a long illness.

Mr. West, a native of Boise, Idaho, began his aviation industry career in 1921 as an inspector of raw materials at Boeing plants in Seattle.

He was with United Airlines and Trans-Canada Air Lines in the 1930s before returning to Boeing.

Mr. West's wife Ruth was killed in an automobile accident near Nanaimo in 1952.

Saanich Studies Program

Saanich finance committee called Tuesday night for preliminary reports on how much it would cost to acquire additional park land and to proceed with a crash program of road-building.

Saanich is thinking of borrowing about $2,000,000 for a do-it-yourself public works program instead of following its pay-as-you-go policy.

The municipality, however, is also waiting for a report expected this fall from a Greater Victoria traffic survey which was recently conducted.

Park Gets Work

Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee has authorized expenditure of $500 to resurface the road and erect car barriers at the picnic area in Mount Douglas Park.

The committee also called for a study of possibilities for development of Gorge Park.

City parks administrator W. H. Warren said he has only $350 to provide a minimum annual maintenance for Gorge Park, but he doubted if it could be restored to its earlier usefulness as a popular park.

Grants Get Cabinet Approval

Per capita grants of more than $12,900,000 to B.C. municipalities were approved Wednesday by the provincial cabinet.

An order-in-council provided for the grants to be made on the same basis as last year, using population figures from the 1961 census.

Cities received a total of $6,246,241.50, with Vancouver claiming $2,620,383 and Victoria $478,116.50. Towns got $274,244, districts $5,185,038.50 and villages $1,195,212 for a grand total of $12,900,737.

Under the grants system, the province pays $16 per person for a community's first 3,500 population, $12 for the next 1,500, $8 for the next 42,000 and $6.50 a head for population beyond 50,000.

Cleveland Truce Death Sequel

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mayor Ralph Locher said Wednesday night all sides in the city's civil rights school dispute have agreed to a two-week truce.

The mayor's announcement came after a city hall meeting that lasted almost seven hours. Some 150 civil rights demonstrators, waiting in the lobby while their leaders met with officials of the city and school board, left without any trouble after they were told the outcome of that conference.

TWO WEEKS

Locher said the agreement includes establishment of a 10-man committee to study the racial problem in Cleveland. The truce will end demonstrations and picketing at school construction sites, city hall or the board of education headquarters for two weeks and may be continued two more weeks if progress is being made.

LONG DAY

The agreement climaxed a long day for civil rights demonstrators. At noon they marched for an hour in rain and snow. The number of participants—about one-third of them white persons—swelled from 150 to 400 for a march to city hall—two blocks away.

NEW SCHOOL

Shortly before the peaceful parade began at noon, a judge issued a temporary order banning further picketing, picketing or trespassing at the site of the new Lakeview public elementary school.

It was there that Rev. Bruce W. Khander, 27, a white Presbyterian minister, died Tuesday when he was run over by a bulldozer. The coroner Wednesday ruled the death accidental.

Toy-Gun Bandit Let Off

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice J. G. Rutan let off first offender Lorne Gordon with a two-year suspended sentence on the first charge here of illegal possession of an imitation revolver, a charge designed to combat an increased number of holdups in which bandits use toy guns.

Defence counsel said Gordon was under the influence of alcohol when he apparently intended to hold up a flower shop. He chased the staff into the street then dropped his "gun" and fled when they wouldn't return.

Unification Goal

ONE UNIFORM BY '67

OTTAWA (CP)—The defence department is aiming to have the three armed forces in one uniform by July 1, 1967—the Confederation centenary.

A department spokesman said Wednesday this date is "acceptable as a target" for unification of the three forces, as opposed to integration which already is under way.

Planning now calls for issue of a new Canadian defence force uniform starting next year.

No decision has yet been made on color or design, the spokesman said. The main concern now is for the choice of a good, neat, serviceable cloth.

Meanwhile, a planning committee has begun work under Air Chief Marshal Frank Miller, designated as the new chief of defence staff. It is laying out establishment of a single defence staff for Ottawa headquarters.

Love Vs. Loyalty

Irene Near Breakdown

PARIS (UPI)—Princess Irene of The Netherlands, torn between love for her Spanish prince and loyalty to her family, was reported Wednesday on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

This statement was made at a brief news conference shortly after Irene arrived to join her fiancé, Don Carlos Hugo de Borbon y Parma on the occasion of his 34th birthday.

It was made by a close friend of the family, the Marquis de Lous, 73, as the princess sat by quietly, looking tired.

The marquis read a statement by Irene which said her decision to go her own way with her prince has not changed her relations with her parents.

Later, he added: "She is on the verge of a nervous breakdown."

The statement explained her decision not to join Queen Juliana, Prince Bernhard and Crown Princess Beatrix on an official visit to Mexico.

CONSEQUENCES

"Princess Irene has decided to choose to follow the life of her future husband with all its consequences," it said, "and thus she will not make an official visit to Mexico in order to separate completely the private responsibility of her acts from the policies of her family and to avoid creating political difficulties for the Queen or the government of her country."

PRESSURES

The marquis said Irene's decision "was caused by a series of pressures, due on the one hand to her entry into the Catholic church, and on the other to her firm resolution to help her future husband in his duties and obligations."

He refused to answer questions on the date or place of the wedding.

Viet Camp Wiped Out

SAIGON (AP) — A Viet Cong force wiped out a Vietnamese army training camp 15 miles south of Saigon Wednesday.

A Vietnamese military spokesman reported 25 South Vietnamese were killed in the guerrilla attack. The Viet Cong apparently captured virtually every weapon in the camp at Phuoc Loi.

Thant's Man Takes Look

NICOSIA (Reuters) — Ralph Bunche, United Nations under-secretary of state for political affairs, arrived unexpectedly here Wednesday night by plane from the Gaza Strip.

Bunche, an American, told reporters at the airport he is here on a routine visit during which he will sit down with Lt. Gen. Prem Gyan, the Indian UN force commander, and "review his problems on the spot."

"The secretary-general (U Thant) will expect me to report on the first 12 days of the UN operation here," Bunche added.

Bunche had not been expected here until Friday, Cyprus riot President Archbishop Makarios postponed a trip to Athens to meet him Wednesday.

Bunche said he would stay until Sunday, then return to the Gaza Strip.

Questioned about Thant's request for more troops for the UN force, Bunche said it was "a matter of simple arithmetic."

The UN had found itself short of the figure it had set. (At UN headquarters in New York, Thant said he had asked Finland, Sweden and Ireland for 300 more troops each to make a total strength of 7,500-men for the peace force on Cyprus.)

In Dublin, the Irish government said it is considering a request from Thant for more Irish troops. Some 600 Irish troops have been designated for the Cyprus operation and 200 more are being considered, a source said.

Bunche said he came to Cyprus earlier than planned because Makarios was going to Athens and he wanted to be at his disposal.

Brussels Claims

Doctors' Strike Faltering

BRUSSELS (AP-Reuters) — The Belgian government claimed Wednesday night a strike of 12,000 doctors and dentists against a revised socialized medical law shows signs of faltering.

A spokesman for the medical men promptly denied the government claim but independent sources revealed some cracks in the doctors' firm stand since the strike began eight days ago. Meanwhile there were indications King Baudouin was seeking resumption of talks between the government and the medical men.

Reliable sources indicated the young monarch was trying to have Professor Jan - Jacques Bouckaert, rector of Ghent University and former dean of its medical faculty, act as mediator. The king and Bouckaert conferred in the royal palace but there was no immediate announcement about their conversations.

An interior ministry spokesman said in an interview that physicians in rural districts were drifting back to work. He added:

100 Stop, Seven Help

'Beggar' Rewards Good

TORONTO (UPI) — Seven good Samaritans found themselves richer because each gave 25 cents to an unkempt, unshaven "beggar" at a busy downtown intersection.

The "beggar" was Toronto millionaire Mel Lastman who undertook the masquerade to test the generosity of citizens toward an unemployed man looking for work.

He found 19 of the first 20 people passed him by when he sought a quarter to get a shave and shoeshine so he could look presentable for a job interview.

Robert Pollard, a shipper who was unemployed himself for six months until early this year, refused to accept a $100 dollar bill for his generosity to the millionaire.

He found 19 of the first 20 people passed him by when he sought a quarter to get a shave and shoeshine so he could look presentable for a job interview.

Robert Pollard, a shipper who was unemployed himself for six months until early this year, refused to accept a $100 dollar bill for his generosity to the millionaire.

"You need the money more than I do," he told Lastman, who has built a chain of 23 appliance stores throughout Ontario.

Pollard finally accepted the money when reporters and photographers convinced him Lastman could afford it.

Six other men, out of the more than 100 people stopped on the street, also sympathized with Lastman's plight and were repaid for their generosity.

Lastman said he was surprised to discover men more generous than women. He said none of the ladies would listen to his tale of woe.

The experiment was finally halted after an hour when a police cruiser stopped and took Lastman away for interrogation. He was released when police were convinced he was not really a beggar.

Africans Deplore Bombing

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Two African members submitted a compromise resolution Wednesday calling on the UN Security Council to deplore a British air attack on a Yemen border fortress which Yemen said claimed 25 lives.

Morocco and the Ivory Coast submitted a mild resolution when it became apparent outright condemnation could not win council approval. A vote was put off until today.

Farris Perjury Trial Hears 'Convincer'

$5,255 Stock Became $165,000

TORONTO (CP) — The jury trying Vancouver financier Ralph K. Farris for perjury heard Wednesday how a $700-a-month employee parlayed $5,255 into $165,000 with stock purchases in Farris' Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company.

J. Chester Grey, Jr., of Tucson, Ariz., who said his job was to sell Northern Ontario municipalities on NONG's then-projected pipeline in 1954-56, told the Supreme Court jury he eventually resigned in 1956 when he could not get any more stock.

He had started off with five shares of NONG's initial issue, which quickly was split 100 for one and then split again at five for one. Along with stock-purchase rights, he wound up with 9,144 shares for his investment. The stock now sells at $21.

Mr. Grey, a former Seattle man who now lives in Arizona for his health, testified at the opening day of evidence at the trial of the 53-year-old Farris, president of NONG, whose company has been under investigation off and on by the Ontario and British Columbia authorities since 1956.

Farris is accused on two counts of perjuring himself before Ontario inquiries in denying knowledge of the disposition of a block of 14,000 NONG shares, some of which went to officials or former officials of municipalities which awarded gas franchises to the company in Northern Ontario.

Largest slice of this block—7,500 shares—went to Mr. Justice Leo Landreville of the

Damages Tallied

ALBERNI—The flood damage assessment committee may be through its task here Friday, if people co-operate by presenting their lists of damaged effects immediately.

Ernest E. Earle, who heads the team of 17 members of the Canadian Independent Adjusters Conference, said approximately 125 householders known to have lost effects in the tidal wave have not yet registered at the flood damage assessment office in the Adelaide shopping centre.

Meanwhile, a number of property owners have signed releases and army personnel and equipment are busy on the demolition job.

Approximately 12 private homes plus a number of motel units have gone up in smoke as the project, which began Sunday, continues.

It is reported that the demolition squad is hoping to be finished by Saturday, and anyone wishing the assistance of the soldiers and their equipment is advised to request the service immediately.

PORT ALBERNI—First candidate for the title of Miss Alberni Valley has been entered by the district's Junior Chamber of Commerce which is sponsoring the competition here.

Ernie Hamm, head of the committee in charge, announced that Karen Jacobson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jacobson, has been entered to be the Jaycee candidate.

A resident of the Alberni since she was one year old, the brown-haired Karen will be 19 in May. She graduated from Alberni District Secondary School and works in the pulp and paper division office.

Coffin Case

Expert Says Indian Truthful During Test by Lie Detector

MONTREAL (CP)—An internationally-known Miami polygraph (lie detector) expert told the Coffin inquiry Wednesday he believes Mohawk Indian Francis Thompson told the truth during an examination when he denied killing two United States bear hunters.

However, expert Warren Holmes said under cross-examination he would not believe Thompson under oath.

Thompson underwent a lie detector test in 1958 after he verbally confessed to the killings, then told detectives he had

GOOD SUBJECT
Mr. Holmes, former president of the International Polygraph Association, told the inquiry he believes Thompson is "a good subject" to take the polygraph examination.

He explained the Miami detective office may have delayed the test while waiting for additional information from Quebec Provincial Police on the slaying of three American hunters in the Gaspe Peninsula in 1953. The information was never seen and it was decided to go ahead with the test on details provided by Montreal author Jacques Hebert when he arrived in Miami.

MOTIVATION
"I was mainly interested in the motivation behind Thompson's original confession — it's not every day a person confesses to a crime somebody else has been convicted for," Mr. Holmes, head of the Miami polygraph bureau at the time, testified.

NOT BEATEN
Mr. Holmes said Thompson told him he had not been beaten by the police but was irritated by the intensive questioning by the police on the theft charge.

He said Thompson told him he "wanted to make a fool out of the police." The lie detector expert described Thompson as "cantankerous," a "liar" and "very evasive."

The Road Back from Olympus Led to Lonely Alberni Room

By DENNIS ORCHARD
ALBERNI (CP) — The road back from Olympus leads to a drafty flight of stairs and a single room above a barber shop.

The door has no nameplate. The room has no pictures, no clippings, no scrapbooks—no mementos to link Bob Granger with his past.

This post-souled man, now 68, lost them all from a lifelong habit of carelessness.

But Bob Granger remembers. He remembers running to the little every night as a boy to watch the sunset over Vancouver Island. He can still see himself as a travelling 13-year-old track coach, captivated by a fleeting glimpse of the Empire State Building framed in rain-wet leaves.

And he remembers fashioning the talents of Percy Williams—as possibly no other man could have—into a sensational double victory at the 1928 Olympic Games in Amsterdam.

Canada rejoiced when its great sprinter returned from Amsterdam with the 100-metre and 200-metre gold medals. The people of Vancouver still remember "the day Percy came home."

LIVES ON PENSION
But Williams has always laid the credit at the doorstep of Granger, an impractical fanatic of sport who tied his life to Williams' fortunes, lived with each victory and died a little with each defeat.

It is a humble doorstep today. Granger lives on his pension, needs a doctor's warning to take care of a weak heart and occasionally escapes the bother of cooking for himself by sweeping out a hotel parking lot in return for a coffee-shop meal.

He last saw Williams several years ago, and then by chance, although this pulp and paper town on Vancouver Island is just a few hours from Williams' home in Vancouver.

It's a far cry from 1928, when like a bloodhound he trailed his "child of nature," coaxing the reluctant 18-year-old high school student to apply his talents.

Granger at that time coached dozens of young Vancouver swimmers, rugby players and track men, and he saved no more for a dollar than he does now. He applied advanced techniques of instruction and conditioning gleaned from a library of books and his own experience.

RAIN BEST ON HATE

Williams, carefree by nature, was impatient with Granger's discipline and clearly despised the work involved in sport. Granger used a bag of tricks—and on one occasion a poison pen—to keep him under control.

Because Williams "ran best on hate," Granger once forged a bitter letter that said the runner couldn't possibly win his race the next day. He signed it with the name of a person Williams thoroughly disliked.

Granger recalls that the next morning, "after stewing all night on his adrenalin," Williams looked the field.

Such tactics paid off two years later when Williams tied the world 100-metre record of 16.6 seconds to win a trip to the Canadian Olympic trials in Hamilton. There, he ran another 16.6 that launched him on his way to Amsterdam.

Granger was strictly on his own as far as Canada's Olympic officials were concerned. He went East as a pantry boy on a CPR train and across the Atlantic on a third-class freighter with money raised at the last minute in Vancouver by Williams' mother.

At Amsterdam, Granger made elaborate preparations. He applied cocoa-butter rub-downs and unique massages, he dressed Williams in three track suits, four sweaters and blazers, before race time, and every night he slept outside the printer's door to fend off reporters and make sure the team had enough air.

When Williams beat the day's great names—Jack London, George Lammner, Frank Wyke, Wilfred Legg and Bob McAllister—to win the 100, Granger wept. When Williams placed Jacob Schuller, Jackson Sholz, Walter Rangeley and Ernst Koenig in the 200 for his second medal, Granger shed a barbed-wire fence in excitement and greeted his protégé with blood-covered hands.

Williams toured United States indoor tracks in 1929, winning 14 times, losing only twice, and tying or breaking four world records despite atrocious running conditions.

"It was as if the hand of fate had written after the Olympics: 'This far and no farther.'"

No sprinter since has matched the "half-driving, half-killing" artistry of style.

There have been no lasting records but Granger has been a lasting memory.

He remembers how 49 people paid their way into that first

Olympic trial to see the only other competitor, a young Indian, quit after 35 yards when he realized Williams was already 15 yards ahead.

Says Granger: "He was chased by an Indian out of the green timber to the twin peaks of Olympus."

Today, the people of Alberni know Bob Granger as a white-haired old bachelor wielding a broom in the parking lot and talking to Old Yeller, his half-Pekingese-half-spaniel dog.

Meter Plan Provides Employment

ALBERNI—Beaver Creek Improvement District is installing 500 water meters in a project employing four men under the winter employment incentive scheme.

Brian Walker, secretary, said it is hoped to complete the job by April 30.

Meantime, the improvement district headquarters are being moved into a new office building, constructed on a four-acre property purchased as a site for a fire hall.

At the annual meeting April 25 in the office building, property owners will again discuss the matter of fire protection.

Two years ago voters turned down a proposition to set up a rural volunteer fire brigade.

Also to be discussed is the matter of garbage collection service, and two trustees will be elected.

William Russell reported on plans to observe the special week April 12 to 18. Mayor Les Hamner has made an official proclamation for observance of the week in Port Alberni.

Both Alberni and Port Alberni city councils and Alberni Board of Trade are being invited to hear Mr. Campbell.

Master Dies Aboard Ship

NANAIMO—The CPR vessel Princess of Vancouver was held up for about 15 minutes on her 8:30 run to Vancouver Wednesday morning when she turned around to answer a distress call from a Greek freighter at anchor in the harbor.

Capt. Dionysius Patronas, master of the Greek freighter Ss Maritini, was found dead in his cabin by ship's officers a few minutes before the ferry left the dock. Distress flags were run up and the whistle of the freighter was blown to attract the attention of officers aboard the Vancouver.

The large ship turned around in the harbor and hove to. The ship's radio was used to call Dr. Lawrence Giovando from Nanaimo, who went out to the freighter on a tug.

It is believed Capt. Patronas died of a heart attack about 4 a.m.

Report Unusual Deaths Ontario Doctors Told

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Hospital Association has issued recommendations aimed at ensuring that questionable hospital deaths are reported swiftly to coroners.

In questionnaire accompanying the OHA circular, the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons has asked the province's 175 hospitals what action is taken to determine the competence of doctors granted hospital privileges and what disciplinary action is taken against offenders.

RECENT INQUESTS

The moves follow recent inquests into post-operative hospital deaths and criticism by Attorney-General Cass that doctors and hospitals are not obeying the letter of the law in reporting questionable deaths to coroners.

The OHA circular says that all persons suspecting a questionable death must immediately inform a coroner and suggest that the primary responsibility

Building Boom

PORT ALBERNI—Building is miles ahead of what it was at this time last year, according to figures supplied by building inspector Bill Fraser. Permits representing $154,000 in construction were issued in March, compared to $124,210 in the same month of 1962. The first quarter of this year showed a figure of $1,092,455. Last year in the same period the total was $773,010.

700-028-125 Numbering 50,000

By ALAN CAMPBELL

About 80,000 Greater Victorians will have their new social insurance numbers by 27/6/64, says 700-028-125, local Unemployment Insurance Commission manager.

Mr. 700-028-125, formerly known as George Bevis, says the Victorians will be among 6,000,000 Canadian workers who will receive numbered cards by that date—June 27.

The switchover here will be in two phases. Those who pay into the unemployment insurance fund will be numbered by May 15, the rest by the later date.

The procedure for Victorians: Employers issue applications to employees and the completed forms are returned to the UIC Victoria office, edited and sent in a regional processing centre in Vancouver.

Complex data processing equipment there assigns a nine-digit number to each applicant and the resulting cards are mailed to Winnipeg for remailing to employers along with new unemployment insurance books.

The cards will be in three parts—the first part to be retained by the employer if he desires, the second to be kept in a safe place at home and the third “preferably” carried on the person of the worker.

Mr. Bevis said it would be desirable to carry the card, to simplify government operations.

There is no penalty for not carrying the card, but it is compulsory to apply if you are paying into the fund.

“We think it is a good idea,” he said. “There have been a few objections from people who fear too much regimentation, but once they find out what it is for, they usually comply.”

The numbers won't be made available to police or any government agency, but the numbers will probably be used under the proposed Canada Pension Plan.

The only exemptions among wage earners, are members of the armed services and agricultural workers, employees of churches and charitable organizations.

Unemployed persons will apply for their cards when claiming benefits, Mr. Bevis says.

“The response has been good here,” he says. “We are getting cards to people in seven days from the time we get the applications back.”

Three editors have been hired to handle the applications and as many as eight may be required.

Doctor's Tale:

‘Shocked, Naked, Bloody’

NANAIMO—An Alert Bay doctor told a Nanaimo Ambulance Court jury Wednesday what happened when he admitted a naked, blood-stained and semi-hysterical Indian girl to the Alert Bay hospital Nov. 7.

Dr. John Fairley was testifying in the capital murder trial of Robert Morley of Alert Bay, who is accused of causing the death of Rosalind Louise Wadhams, 10.

Dr. Fairley said that, when he first saw the girl Nov. 7, she was slumped in the back seat of a taxi and made except for a small towel which covered part of her body. He said he was on his way home from the hospital when he was hailed by the taxi.

‘VERY SHOCKED’

He described the girl as being in a “very shocked condition” and “semi-hysterical.” He said there was blood on her skin, on the towel which covered her and on the back seat of the taxi.

Dr. Fairley estimated a main abdominal wound, two smaller wounds on the right arm and near the left shoulder blade and a number of superficial scratches he found on the girl would have been inflicted two or three hours before she arrived at the hospital.

ANOTHER DOCTOR

He said he and another Alert Bay doctor made the decision to operate on the girl when they diagnosed internal bleeding from an abdominal blood vessel which had probably been damaged when the wound was inflicted.

Dr. Fairley told the court the girl had lost a lot of blood and was in a severe state of shock, but her particular blood type was not in the hospital. He said “the surgeon seemed to be having trouble stopping the bleeding.”

ABOUT THAT TIME

Her blood pressure was dropping and her condition seemed to be deteriorating quickly. She was given a transfusion of blood of a type different from her own and at about that time the internal bleeding was controlled.

Defence counsel Ralph Hutchinson asked if the incompatibility of blood types was a contributing factor to the girl's death more than a week after the operation.

‘ADVERSE FACTOR’

Dr. Fairley said “it would certainly be an adverse factor,” but he said she would have died from infection even without the transfusion of the different blood type.

He said the girl was conscious during the time before her death and at times was “partly hysterical.”

Mr. Hutchinson asked the doctor if he examined the girl to see if she had been subjected to any sexual attack. Dr. Fairley said he had not but was present while another doctor performed such an examination.

Dr. Fairley was not asked to give the results of the examination.

Dr. Fairley testified Morley had been an orderly at the Alert Bay Hospital for at least 2½ years before November, 1963.

He said: “Morley was always willing and quite capable.”

Mei Wing Yip, toxicologist with the Vancouver analysts' department, told the court he analyzed a blood sample taken from Morley Nov. 7 and it showed an alcohol content of 30 per cent.

OUNCES GIVEN

He said this alcohol level would be caused by 15 ounces of hard liquor or 42 ounces of wine.

Earlier in the trial, Lloyd Clarke testified he, Morley and another man had been drinking large quantities of wine during the morning and afternoon of Nov. 7, and Morley had been handling a pocket knife.

The trial continues today.

Short Stay

Arriving at Patricia Bay Saturday morning, Defence Minister Hellyer will confer with navy, army and air force officers in course of west coast visit. He will return to Vancouver the same afternoon.

City Reaction:

School Case Urgent

The provincial cabinet yesterday renewed its annual appeal to B.C. school boards to borrow for capital expenditures only “in cases of extreme emergency,” but Greater Victoria officials said last night the board will press on with its building and borrowing programs.

School board chairman Mrs. A. B. Thompson said Victoria's case was “extremely urgent.”

WON'T BE ENOUGH

The board is still awaiting provincial approval of a school building referendum — fearful that, if it isn't approved soon, there won't be enough accommodation for pupils in September.

“Victoria looks at every nickel before it's spent,” said Mrs. Thompson. “We would not be building or asking for sites unless it was absolutely necessary.”

TOTAL OF 150

“I don't think the board has been unjustified in anything it has asked for.”

The referendum involves requisition of sites for new schools and additions to existing schools for a total of 150 classrooms. Cost is expected to top $5,000,000.

Until the education department approves it, nothing can be done. The board hopes it can present the referendum to the voters April 25.

The cabinet's appeal said school boards should defer submission of questions to the electorate “in view of excessive current interest rates.”

However, Education Minister Peterson said the main reason was the volume of school construction now.

ALREADY APPROVED

The Greater Victoria board yesterday was authorized to borrow $1,000,000 in a cabinet approval of $10,000,000 in borrowing by 23 B.C. boards for construction and other capital expenses. This amount is for building works already approved for the area.

Other island boards given authority to borrow were Saanich, $100,000; Lake Cowichan, $140,000; Alberni, $100,000; Courtenay, $200,000, and Campbell River, $140,000.

Strike Foes Meeting

A meeting between the parties in the B.C. shipyard strike, now in its third month, has been arranged by Labor Minister Peterson for 10 a.m. today.

Mr. Peterson said last night the meeting will have as chairman deputy labor minister William Sands of Victoria.

ALMOST DAILY

He said members of the government labor department have been in almost daily discussion with both labor and management representatives.

Mr. Peterson talked about the strike Tuesday with North Vancouver Mayor William Angus and Reeve Murdo Fraser of the district municipality of North Vancouver.

VOTE REQUEST

Today's talks will be the first between union and management in almost three weeks.

At the last meeting, March 30, the companies asked the unions to take a proposal for a four-year contract with wage increases totaling 40 cents an hour to the employees for a vote. The unions did, and it was announced March 26 that the vote was overwhelmingly against accepting the offer.

EVEN FOUR YEARS

One recent suggestion from a union source has been a three-year, or even four-year, contract with 15-cents-an-hour wage increases each year.

Some 2,000 employees, members of 22 unions, have been on strike against Burrard Dry Dock in North Vancouver and Yarrow and Victoria Machinery Depot in Victoria since early February.

Community Changing Constitution

View Royal Community Association is to revise its by-laws and constitution at a general meeting Monday, to “bring them up to date.”

“Our constitution was drawn up a few years ago,” said president Joseph Sutherland last night. “Some of the financial restrictions in the constitution are pretty well unworkable.”

Mr. Sutherland said a new constitution would be simpler than many individual changes. “We are hoping for a good turnout so no one can afterwards the officials went over members' heads.”

Federalists Booming In Victoria

The Victoria branch of the World Federalists of Canada is now 201 strong, an increase of 80 per cent since last year, membership committee chairman Mrs. W. Burchill told the annual meeting last night.

Re-elected president for 1964 was Dr. L. Austin Wright. Other officers are Dr. E. H. Richardson, vice-president; C. K. Morrison, secretary, and John Fraser, treasurer, who said the branch sent $3,000 of the $4,000 it raised last year to the national office at Ottawa.

Clam-Dig Ban Over Soon

Signs prohibiting clam digging in Esquimalt Lagoon might be taken down Saturday or Sunday, senior metro health officer Dr. John Whitbread said yesterday.

The ban was imposed last month following a break in the sewer line running from nearby Belmont Park naval housing area.

Dr. Whitbread said the broken pipe was fixed 10 days ago and a careful watch has been kept since that time.

Island Rural Cobble Hill ‘Heaven’

By KLAUS MUENTER

COBBLE HILL.—For most of his 80 years, retired pioneer farmer R. B. Moulton has lived in this district. Born on a farm near Sarnia, Ont., he came west as a young man and except during the First World War he has been part of southern Vancouver Island.

His arrival on the island in 1909, is still very clear to him. He said, “It was fall when I came and I immediately liked it.”

“Man, oh man, it was just wonderful—beautiful horses everywhere. All the roads were gravelled and one did not have to wade through mud when it rained.”

“Cobble Hill was a close to heaven as I could get.”

This first impression stayed with him through good and bad years, but mainly the good ones stand out.

No longer does the widowed farmer live on the farm he managed from 1919 to 1952, but from his small house on Cameron-Taggart road he has a sweeping view of the old farm with its lush fields.

From there his memories embrace almost half a century of life in the Cobble Hill district.

A year after Mr. Moulton arrived here, to work as a logger, he met his wife, Olive Cheal, whose uncle and mother managed the 100-acre spread. Cobble Hill in those days, he recalls, was the centre of gay social activities.

In 1912, the booming town boasted several stores and the railroad every weekend brought hundreds of visitors from Victoria. Large hotels at Cobble Hill, Cowichan Station and Shawigan Lake were favorite stopping places. Real estate soared to considerable heights.

All the hotels burned in later years. Mr. Moulton said it was not rare that a 160-acre farm would bring as much as $25,000 on the market. “An enormous amount of money in those days,” he remarked. The outbreak of the First World War, however, changed the picture.

Prices for farm produce in the 1920 were good. Moulton shipped cream by wagon and train to the Cowichan creamery at Duncan, and was paid 70 cents per pound in the winter, and 80 cents in the summer.

A pound of veal or pork then netted 25 cents, but suddenly in 1929 prices dropped to record lows.

“The bottom seemed to fall out of everything, Mr. Moulton remembered. For some years a pound of butterfat brought only 18 cents, gradually levelling out to 25 cents until the outbreak of the Second World War created another boom.

“All one needed was a team of horses, a plow and a harrow,” Mr. Moulton said, and until the depression paralyzed the country's economy, farming was a solid enterprise.

For almost a decade the farm on Cameron-Taggart Road provided a comfortable living for the Moultons, their daughter, now a Victoria housewife, Mrs. Ronald Vidal, and their son, William, who lives in Chilliwack.

Key to Senseless Crimes:

Jot Down the Details

Following an unusual number of senseless crimes in the Victoria area recently, the Victoria police chief said last night the best way witnesses to such acts can help police is through identification.

“Identification of persons responsible is of prime importance to police,” said Chief J. F. Gregory.

He urged witnesses to take careful mental note of such details as licence numbers and appearances of cars and their occupants.

Saanich alone of houses being broken into and vandalized.

Two prime objects of thieves, he said, are money and liquor. If they don't find either, or if they get “liquored up,” the culprits are likely to “take it out on” premises.

He said the recent beatings and vandalism are generally the work of young people, but fortunately of a very small minority.

“Ninety-nine-point-some-odd per cent are good citizens.”

Chief Gregory said he is glad to see police are succeeding in arresting persons responsible for the outbreaks.

U.S. to Study Giant Scheme

WASHINGTON (CP) — A mammoth water and power project that would create 4,000,000 new jobs, give Canada a new water route from the Pacific Ocean to the Great Lakes and boost Niagara Falls power by 50 per cent is to be studied by a new U.S. Senate subcommittee seeking ways of diverting more North American water to the parched areas of the southwestern United States.

"Unless Arizona, for example, gets more water, it will wither and die," Senator Frank Moss, Utah Democrat, said in an interview Wednesday as he gave the basic ideas behind an unprecedented water diversion plan that would require outlays of more than $100,000,000,000 during a 30-year period. This money would be regained through the sale of water and power.

An equivalent $100,000,000,000 also would be spent on facilities to put the new water supplies to use—creating a vast new capital market for more than $300,000,000,000 in manpower and supplies.

Devised by Ralph M. Parsons Company, a Los Angeles engineering firm, the proposal envisages the collection of surplus water from the Yukon, Peace, Columbia, Fraser and Athabasca rivers and redistributing them to the parched areas through a system of reservoirs, canals, tunnels and rivers. One huge Rocky Mountain trench would be 500 miles long.

The scheme, first unveiled at a Los Angeles press conference March 17 by the Parsons company, was described at that time by Provincial Water Resources Minister Ray Williston as "in the realm of pure fantasy."

The estimated costs, described by the firm as "very preliminary," would include digging a new ship waterway to connect Vancouver to the Great Lakes at Duluth on Lake Superior, reducing the need for many Canadian ships to use the Panama Canal. The increased water flow through the lakes would boost Niagara power by 50 per cent.

TRENCHES, CHANNELS
More trenches, channels and reservoirs would take water down from the northern areas to the U.S. and Mexico, helping all three countries meet water, power and irrigation needs.

"This huge project is not beyond the realm of possibility," said Moss, who maintained that the engineering firm held preliminary talks with unidentified Canadians on the Prairies and West Coast and found them "highly interested" in the diversion plan.

Juliana In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, Prince Bernhard and Princess Beatrix arrived Wednesday on a social visit to Mexico that was expected to strengthen ties between the two countries.

The decision of Princess Beatrix not to make the trip at the last minute did not dampen the warmth of the Mexican welcome to the Dutch royal family.

PRESIDENT ON HAND

21-GUN SALUTE

A 21-gun salute boomed as the plane landed. The national anthems of both countries were played. The airport was festooned with the national colors of Mexico and the Netherlands. Lopez Mateos in brief welcoming remarks said Mexico has strong feelings of sympathy and friendship for Holland, one of the first nations to extend diplomatic recognition to Mexico when it won independence.

JULIANA APPLAUDED

Juliana was applauded when she responded in Spanish. Lopez Mateos said he was confident the royal visit would renew and strengthen the ties between the two countries.

Second Case in Two Days

Little League Ball Park Hit By Toilet-Wrecking Vandals

In the second instance of public lavatory vandalism to be discovered in the Victoria area in two days, Victoria police yesterday learned of destruction in lavatories at a city ball park.

Victoria police said both men's and women's lavatories

at the Little League Ball Park had been broken into. Bowls and seats were broken, signs ripped from the walls, and obscenities scrawled among other damage, police said.

The damage was discovered around midday yesterday. Meanwhile, Spanish police said yesterday that parents of three youngsters who smashed washroom facilities at Prospect Lake Park are going to have to pay for the damage.

Damage done by the children, aged eight, six and six, is estimated at $240. They smashed three toilet bowls, covered the walls with mud and scattered toilet paper. The destruction was discovered Tuesday but is believed to have been done during the weekend.

There will be no police action against the children but the parents have agreed to make good the damage.

Arrives Here Monday

Salvation Army Official To Visit Penal Units

Li-Col. J. Clinton Escott of the Salvation Army, former president of the Canadian Correctional Chaplains Association, will visit penal institutions in the Victoria area.

Accompanying him on his visit to Victoria Monday will be Brigadier Roger Thierstein, correctional services officer stationed in Victoria.

Col. Escott was commissioned as a Salvation Army officer in 1919 and was appointed to missionary service at Peking,

China, where he served as regional officer.

He was transferred to west China in 1941 during the Sino-Japanese War to commence work in Chungking but due to Communist pressure he moved with territorial headquarters to Shanghai, then to Seoul, returning to Canada in 1949 after 27 years of service in China and Korea.

He was chaplain of the Guelph Reformatory for seven years, then was appointed director of correctional headquarters in Toronto in 1959.

Three More Girls Enter Miss Victoria Pageant

Another three girls have entered the line-up for the Jaycees' Miss Victoria Pageant—but the Jaycees want another six girls to enter before their Saturday deadline.

So far 14 girls have come forward to enter the contest. The Jaycees are hoping for at least 20 entries.

Latest entries are Dorothy Leard, 22, of 1880 St. Charles Street; Joanne R. Leeming, 18, of 1337 Bond Street and Norma Redfern, 22, of 720 University Street.

Dorothy, a member of Victoria Girls' Drill team, works for Ocean Cement Ltd., Joanne is employed by the B.C. Telephone Company and Norma, for the Bank of Nova Scotia, Shalbourne Plaza.

Girls who still want to enter can pick up forms from the Jaycees' office at 1217 Douglas or call Terry Farmer, 386-5121.

Monday all entrants will be given a hair-styling demonstration; Wednesday they will meet contest judges informally at a coffee party at the Empress Hotel; then, April 17, they will be pre-judged at 8 p.m. in the Duke of Kent Room at the Empress.

Police Can't Link Man To $56,000 Robbery

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police said Wednesday they have been unable to link a man held by Toronto police with the $56,000 robbery of a National Employment Service office here March 26.

The man was arrested in Toronto as he stepped off a plane from Vancouver. He is being held on a charge of possession of burglary tools. City Det. Sgt. Bill Porteous flew to Toronto to question the suspect.

Quake Data Given

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has provided the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey with a detailed picture of the after-shocks of the earthquake that rocked Alaska Good Friday.

The information was obtained at five Canadian seismograph stations operated by the Dominion Observatory—at Alert on the north coast of Ellesmere Island, Frobisher on Baffin Island, Mould Bay on Prince Patrick Island, Resolute on Cornwallis Island and Coppermine on Garmston Gulf in the Northwest Territories.

AFTER-SHOCKS STRONG

Dr. J. H. Hodgson, chief of the observatory's seismology division, said Wednesday in an interview that some of the after-shocks were almost as strong as the Alaska earthquake.

The Alaska quake had a shock force of 8.5. Dr. Hodgson said that some of the after-shocks recorded at the five seismograph stations in the Canadian Arctic had forces ranging up to 8 and 7.5.

347 RECORDED

"Our station at Mould Bay recorded 347 shocks in the period from March 27, the day of the quake, until April 5," he said.

Dr. Hodgson said not all of the shocks were from the Alaska quake.

By ALAN CAMPBELL

About 50,000 Greater Victorians will have their new social insurance numbers by 27/6/64, says 700-028-115, local Unemployment Insurance Commission manager.

Mr. 700-028-115, formerly known as George Bevis, says the Victorians will be among 6,000,000 Canadian workers who will receive numbered cards by that date—June 27.

The switchover here will be in two phases. Those who pay into the unemployment insurance fund will be numbered by May 15, the rest by the later date.

The procedure for Victorians:

Employers issue applications to employees and the completed forms are returned to the UIC Victoria office, edited and sent to a regional processing centre in Vancouver.

Complex data processing equipment there assigns a nine-digit number to each applicant and the resulting cards are mailed to Winnipeg for remailing to employers along with new unemployment insurance books.

The cards will be in three parts—the first part to be retained by the employer if he desires, the second to be kept in a safe place at home and the third "preferably" carried on the person of the worker.

Mr. Bevis said it would be desirable to carry the card, to simplify government operations.

There is no penalty for not carrying the card, but it is compulsory to apply if you are paying into the fund.

"We think it is a good idea," he said. "There have been a few objections from people who fear too much regimentation, but once they find out what it is for, they usually comply."

The numbers won't be made available to police or any government agency, but the numbers will probably be used under the proposed Canada Pension Plan.

The only exemptions among wage earners, are members of the armed services and agricultural workers, employees of churches and charitable organizations.

Unemployed persons will apply for their cards when claiming benefits, Mr. Bevis says.

"The response has been good here," he says. "We are getting cards to people in seven days from the time we get the applications back."

Three editors have been hired to handle the applications and as many as eight may be required.

Saanich

Green Belt Vote Likely

By BOB PETHICK

Saanich hopes to put a $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 money bylaw for purchase of park lands and the building of roads and sidewalks to the people next winter.

Coun. Leslie Passmore drew a round of applause when he told a meeting of the Capital Region branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada that Saanich had come to the conclusion green belts are good.

He said that, at a meeting of Saanich finance committee, the chairman of the lands and planning committee had been authorized to bring in a report on all the land available for sale in Saanich which would be desirable for green belt use.

ABOUT FIVE ACRES

Mr. Passmore said property had already been purchased by the municipality in the lower end of Prospect Lake. About five acres was involved.

He said council was still waiting for a purchase price to be set by the city on Beaver Lake Park.

Adding to the existing start of a green belt, he said, were Mount Douglas Park and the Rithet property in its natural state in the vicinity of the reservoir.

Short Stay

Arriving at Patricia Bay Saturday morning, Defence Minister Hellyer will confer with navy, army and air force officers in course of west coast visit. He will return to Vancouver the same afternoon.

City Reaction:

School Case Urgent

The provincial cabinet yesterday renewed its annual appeal to B.C. school boards to borrow for capital expenditures only "in cases of extreme emergency," but Greater Victoria officials said last night the board will press on with its building and borrowing programs.

School board chairman Mrs. A. B. Thompson said Victoria's case was "extremely urgent."

WON'T BE ENOUGH

The board is still awaiting provincial approval of a school building referendum — fearful that, if it isn't approved soon, there won't be enough accommodation for pupils in September.

"Victoria looks at every nickel before it's spent," said Mrs. Thompson. "We would not be building or asking for sites unless it was absolutely necessary."

TOTAL OF 150

"I don't think the board has been unjustified in anything it has asked for."

The referendum involves acquisition of sites for new schools and additions to existing schools for a total of 150 classrooms. Cost is expected to top $3,000,000.

Until the education department approves it, nothing can be done. The board hopes it can present the referendum to the voters April 25.

The cabinet's appeal said school boards should defer submission of questions to the electorate "in view of excessive current interest rates."

However, Education Minister Peterson said the main reason was the volume of school construction now.

ALREADY APPROVED

The Greater Victoria board yesterday was authorized to borrow $1,000,000 in a cabinet approval of $10,000,000 in borrowing by 23 B.C. boards for construction and other capital expenses. This amount is for building works already approved for the area.

Other Island boards given authority to borrow were Saanich, $100,000; Lake Cowichan, $140,000; Alberni, $100,000; Courtenay, $200,000, and Campbell River, $140,000.

Today

Strike Foes Meeting

A meeting between the parties in the B.C. shipyards strike, now in its third month, has been arranged by Labor Minister Peterson for 10 a.m. today.

Mr. Peterson said last night the meeting will have as chairman deputy labor minister William Sands of Victoria.

ALMOST DAILY

He said members of the government labor department have been in almost daily discussion with both labor and management representatives.

Mr. Peterson talked about the strike Tuesday with North Vancouver Mayor William Angus and Reeve Murdo Fraser of the district municipality of North Vancouver.

VOTE REQUEST

Today's talks will be the first between union and management in almost three weeks.

At the last meeting, March 30, the companies asked the unions to take a proposal for a four-year contract with wage increases totally 40 cents an hour to the employees for a vote. The unions did, and it was announced March 26 that the vote was overwhelmingly against accepting the offer.

One recent suggestion from a union source has been a three-year, or even four-year, contract with 15-cents-an-hour wage increases each year.

Fire Hits Home Of Dentist

Living room and adjoining dining room of a dentist's home on Newport Avenue were damaged by flames which crept up from the basement early this morning.

Oak Bay Fire Chief W. T. Pearson said that Dr. H. D. Middleton, 1092 Newport Avenue, was having a late snack in bed just after midnight when he smelled smoke. He rushed downstairs and found the basement full of smoke.

"Alone in the house, Dr. Middleton rushed to a neighbor's to phone the fire department, who arrived to find flames had crept up the partition between the living rooms and charred walls and curtains.

Mrs. Middleton and their eldest daughter, Barbara, 19, were away at the time and the three other children—Pam, 16; Anne, 13, and Michael, 10—were sleeping next door at the home of David G. Sloan, 2545 Orchard.

Cause of the fire was unknown at press time, but Fire Chief Pearson said that the blaze started in the basement. There was no estimate of damage.

Federalists Booming

The Victoria branch of the World Federalists of Canada is now 201 strong, an increase of 80 per cent since last year, membership committee chairman Mrs. W. Birchill told the annual meeting last night.

Re-elected president for 1964 was Dr. L. Austin Wright. Other officers are Dr. E. H. Richardson, vice-president; C. K. Morrison, secretary, and John Fraser, treasurer, who said the branch sent $3,000 of the $4,000 it raised last year to the national office at Ottawa.

Clam-Dig Ban Over Soon

Signs prohibiting clam digging in Esquimalt Lagoon might be taken down Saturday or Sunday, senior metro health officer Dr. John Whitbread said yesterday.

The ban was imposed last month following a break in the sewer line running from nearby Belmont Park naval housing area.

Dr. Whitbread said the broken pipe was fixed 10 days ago and a careful watch has been kept since that time.

Lumber and grain shipments through the port of Victoria are holding up well, even though there have been days when Orford Point has been without deep-sea ships.

To offset this there have been times, like last weekend, when all docks were full, two ships were anchored in Royal Roads and still another had to wait at Victoria Machinery Depot for a berth.

ONLY TEMPORARY

"We're pushed right now," Harbormaster Capt. Ronald Newell said last night. "But this is only temporary. It evens out."

"There are ups and downs but prospects for the future are good," said Kenneth Briggs of King Brothers, ship agents. "We've been getting increased trade to the Orient in both grain and lumber. Certainly in the last four or five months we've been the busiest we've ever been. We could be up anything from 15 to 25 per cent."

HALF WHEAT SHIPPED

About half of Canada's sales of 250 million bushels of wheat to Russia now has been shipped, a Canadian wheat board spokesman said yesterday.

B.C. ports shipped 18,834,764 bushels of grain in March. This is no record but a good average. Of this amount Victoria shipped 886,320 bushels, compared with 509,973 from New Westminster, 888,533 from Prince Rupert and 16,359,938 from Vancouver.

The total is down from 1963 and 1962 but this was partly due to lack of ship arrivals. The Atlantic Falcon took a partial cargo for Japan last week and the Orenburg is now loading a full cargo for Russia.

Lumber shipments are up. Total waterborne shipments from B.C. to U.S. markets for the first two months of the year were 202,000 board feet compared with 171,300,000 in 1963, an increase of 18 per cent.

SHIPMENTS RISE

Shipments overseas during the first two months rose from 201,900 board feet in 1963 to 202,900 this year.

In February shipments to the U.S. were $3,300,000 compared to 104,700,000 last year and the Atlantic coast area again took most of the shipments—78,600,000 board feet.

Three Victoria militia units will have their annual inspections Monday and Tuesday at Bay Street Armory.

Slated for inspection by Brig. E. D. Danby, B.C. area commander, are 4 Intelligence Training Company at 8 p.m. Monday; 5 Area Signal Squadron at 8:45 p.m. the same night, and No. 155 Company, RCASC, at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Members of the Saanich Social Credit constituency association last night unanimously passed a resolution that the government be "strongly recommended" not to sell the University of Victoria's Lansdowne Campus.

Earlier this week it was announced jointly by Bishop Remi de Roo and development board chairman Harold Elworthy part of the campus was to become the site of a Roman Catholic junior-senior school for boys and girls.

MEETING APRIL 16

Mr. Elworthy said further details of plans for the rest of the 54-acre campus would be announced at a public meeting at 8 p.m. April 16 at Uplands Elementary School.

But last night Carl Bitterman, president of the Sacred group, said the 50 or so people at the meeting decided they would like to see Lansdowne campus used for mental health research, in conjunction with the university program.

"There was also a suggestion it could be adapted for adult education facilities," he said.

Car Wash Set

The 7th Fort Victoria Scout Troop will hold a car wash Saturday between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the Fairfield Shopping Plaza. Proceeds are for material to make tents.

To Fight Senseless Crimes:

Jot Down the Details

Following an unusual number of senseless crimes in the Victoria area recently, the Victoria police chief said last night the best way witnesses to such acts can help police is through identification.

"Identification of persons responsible is of prime importance to police," said Chief J. F. Gregory.

He urged witnesses to take careful mental note of such details as licence numbers and appearances of cars and their occupants.

Saanich alone of houses being broken into and vandalized. Two prime objects of thieves, he said, are money and liquor. If they don't find either, or if they get "liquored up," the culprits are likely to "take it out on" premises.

He said the recent beatings and vandalism are generally the work of young people, but fortunately of a very small minority.

"Ninety-nine-point-some-odd per cent are good citizens," Chief Gregory said he is glad to see police are succeeding in arresting persons responsible for the outbreaks.

"From there on, it's up to the courts."

Saanich Chief W. A. Pearson said there have been six or seven cases of unprovoked assaults in the Victoria-Saanich area in the past couple of months.

And, he said, vandalism is another recent problem. He said there have been 60 instances in the past two or three months in

Truce Death Sequel

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mayor Ralph Locher said Wednesday night all sides in the city's civil rights school dispute have agreed to a two-week truce.

The mayor's announcement came after a city hall meeting that lasted almost seven hours. Some 150 civil rights demonstrators, waiting in the lobby while their leaders met with officials of the city and school board, left without any trouble after they were told the outcome of that conference.

TWO WEEKS

Locher said the agreement includes establishment of a 18-man committee to study the racial problem in Cleveland. The truce will end demonstrations and picketing at school construction sites, city hall or the board of education headquarters for two weeks and may be continued two more weeks if progress is being made.

LONG DAY

The agreement climaxed a long day for civil rights demonstrators. At noon they marched for an hour in rain and snow.

The number of participants—about one-third of them white persons—swelled from 150 to 400 for a march to city hall—two blocks away.

NEW SCHOOL

Shortly before the peaceful parade began at noon, a judge issued a temporary order banning further construction, picketing or trespassing at the site of the new Lakeview public elementary school.

It was there that Rev. Bruce W. Klunder, 37, a white Presbyterian minister, died Tuesday when he was run over by a bulldozer. The coroner Wednesday ruled the death accidental.

Toy-Gun Bandit Let Off

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice J. G. Burton let off first offender Leroy Gordon with a two-year suspended sentence on the first charge here of illegal possession of an imitation revolver, a charge designed to combat an increased number of holdups in which bandits use toy guns.

Defence counsel said Gordon was under the influence of alcohol when he apparently intended to hold up a flower shop. He chased the staff into the street then dropped his "gun" and fled when they wouldn't return.

Love Vs. Loyalty

Irene Near Breakdown

PARIS (UPI) — Princess Irene of The Netherlands, torn between love for her Spanish prince and loyalty to her family, was reported Wednesday on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

This statement was made at a brief news conference shortly after Irene arrived to join her fiancé, Don Carlos Hugo de Borbon y Parma on the occasion of his 34th birthday.

It was made by a close friend of the family, the Marquis de Loez, 73, as the princess sat by quietly, looking tired.

The marquis read a statement by Irene which said her decision to go her own way with her prince has not changed her relations with her parents.

Later, he added: "She is on the verge of a nervous breakdown."

The statement explained her decision not to join Queen Juliana, Prince Bernhard and Crown Princess Beatrix on an official visit to Mexico.

CONSEQUENCES

"Princess Irene has decided to choose to follow the life of her future husband with all its consequences," it said, "and thus she will not make an official visit to Mexico in order to separate completely the private responsibility of her acts from the policies of her family and to avoid creating political difficulties for the Queen or the government of her country."

PRESSURES

The marquis said Irene's decision "was caused by a series of pressures, due on the one hand to her entry into the Catholic church, and on the other to her firm resolution to help her future husband in his duties and obligations."

He refused to answer questions on the date or place of the wedding.

Two Sailors Die In Canyon Crash

HOPE (CP) — Two young Canadian sailors, both 19, died Wednesday when their car crashed into America Bridge on the Trans-Canada Highway, five miles north of here.

RCMP said one of the youths died instantly and the second in hospital.

Winter Works To Be Extended?

OTTAWA (CP) — Labor Minister MacEachen said in the Commons Wednesday he will consider an extension of the municipal winter works incentive program in depressed areas after the normal expiry or April 30.

100 Stop, Seven Help

'Beggar' Rewards Good

TORONTO (UPI) — Seven good Samaritans found themselves richer because each gave 25 cents to an unkempt, unshaven "beggar" at a busy downtown intersection.

The "beggar" was Toronto millionaire Mel Lastman who undertook the masquerade to test the generosity of citizens toward an unemployed man looking for work.

He found 19 of the first 20 people passed him by when he sought a quarter to get a shave and shoeshine so he could look presentable for a job interview.

Robert Pollard, a shipper who was unemployed himself for six months until early this year, refused to accept a $100 dollar bill for his generosity to the millionaire.
